Lincoln's Day Tomorrow
The Conscience of Italy
A Queer Politician
Beet or Cane Sugar

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

TOMORROW, Lincoln's birthday, children should be told about the nation's noblest man Washington created the nation. Lincoln preserved it. Tell children that, let them decide which was more important.

Tell them that Indians lived all around Lincoln's boyhood home. His grandfather was shot dead by an Indian, in Kentucky. That will interest your small boy. Lincoln was influenced by four books. His mother, who died when he was eleven, taught him to read the Bible and the life of Washington.

The other two books were Pilgrim's Progress and Plutarch's Lives. The Bible gave him a sound foundation. He quoted Bible texts often. Washington inspired him with ambition. He was guided by his teachings.

Bunyan's writings developed Lincoln's use of English, impressing on him the value of short English words.

Plutarch's Lives took him out of his narrow surroundings in Indiana to the great world and its men of long ago.

With nothing more than the Bible, Bunyan, Plutarch, the life of Washington, the alphabet and the multiplication table, a man might have an adequate education—if he added common sense, ambition and a desire to be useful, to his book knowledge.

In every house there should be a portrait of Lincoln and children taught to love that noble, rugged face.

Some public spirited citizen, George Eastman or W. R. Hearst or Rockefeller, should prepare a talking moving picture of Lincoln's life for free use in public schools and elsewhere.

The agreement with Mussolini's government, restoring to the Pope a limited temporal power, and paying more than a hundred million dollars by way of damages, has not yet been published in Italy.

Remnants of a violently anti-clerical party are there, but it was thought Mussolini had subdued opposition sufficiently to make any announcement safe.

Speaking for the Catholic church, a priest in New York welcomes the agreement between the Vatican and Italy's government because it sets free the consciences of many Italians. They had been unable to take the oath of loyalty to their nation's government as long as the Pope's claims were unsatisfied.

Now they can swear allegiance to Italy at elections or at any time.

In new York, Mr. Harvey, head of Queensborough, chooses to be eccentric and refuses a bribe of $250,000. He had only to close his eyes, take the money "with plenty more to come" and let the sewer contractors continue robbing the public.

There is, however, nothing eccentric about the Republican boss of Queens. He repudiates Harvey, wants nothing more to do with him, reads him out of the sacred Republican ranks.

What is the use of electing a man if he turns around and cuts off the graft supply? That's worse than any serpent's tooth.

Ireland has been growing sugar beets, profitably, selling them to a Belgian plant in Ireland. The Belgian capitalists now cut the price paid the Irish farmer from $13 to $11 — ton.

The farmers struck and say they will plant grass, inasmuch as the factory gets a subsidy of $15 a ton from Ireland's government. $4 more than the farmers get for growing the crop.

If Herbert Hoover had as simple a farm problem as that he would be happy. The development of power in the Shannon would make a government factory simple and might teach better arithmetic to the foreign capitalists who have been making 26 per cent a year on their investment.

Which, by the way, is better for human nourishment, beet or cane sugar? Some allege that cane sugar is better because the cane grows in sunlight, the beet root under ground.

Louisiana, Cuba, Spreckels or Babst ought to make scientific experiments with groups of rats, giving cane sugar to some, beet sugar to others, and announce the results.

Shot down by a squad of policemen, the Mexican, Toral, who murdered President-elect Obregon, tried to shout: "Long live Christ the King," rallying cry of pious Mexicans. He was dead before he could get farther than "viva."

He died, doubtless, as did Ravaillac, murderer of Henry IV, convinced that he would go from the spot of execution straight to Heaven. That belief, shared by all Mohammed's soldiers, makes troops or individuals dangerous enemies.

$25,000 TO MRS. EARL BOARDMAN

An agreement under which Earl Griswold Boardman, reputed millionaire rum runner, was to pay his wife a lump sum of $25,000 in lieu of alimony, was sustained by Judge Prest today in Suffolk probate court.

Judge Prest's action was taken after hearing testimony in the divorce suit of Mrs. George Regina (Jean) Boardman of Hotel Canterbury, in which she charged cruel and abusive treatment.

Atty. Samuel L. Bailey, counsel for Mrs. Boardman, sought in vain to have the agreement set aside, on the ground that his client was

First Temperance Contest Letters

FROM among the thousands of letters received from readers offering suggestions for substitute legislation to bring about real temperance in place of the present prohibition, the Boston Evening American has selected a representative group for publication in this issue.

Chosen at random, among contestants for the $25,000 Hearst Temperance Prize and without thought for their individual merits these letters are presented merely as a cross-section of the public's thought on this momentous question of the day.

The publication of these letters and of additional letters and plans to be printed day by day in these columns, has no significance with regard to the final allotment of the prize awards.

Publication of particular plans does not indicate the opinion of the judges, nor does it mean that such plans will have special recognition. Neither does it mean that any plan published under the

Heavy Toll Fees for Tunnel

The average toll charge for vehicles using the proposed $16,000,000 East Boston traffic tunnel would amount to 26 cents, Henry I. Harriman told the metropolitan affairs committee of the legislature today.

The committee took up reconsideration of the measure which was passed on Gov. Fuller's recommendation last year but which lapsed because Mayor Nichols would not accept it for the city due to the financial provisions.

Harriman, who is chairman of the public trustees of the Boston Elevated and was formerly chairman of the metropolitan planning commission, said the annual interest charge on the $10,000,000 cost of

PAPAL PACT IS SIGNED IN ROME

Rome, Feb. 11 (AP)—After more than half a century of estrangement, peace was formally established today between the Holy See and the Italian Government, marking one of the most momentous chapters in the modern history of the church and state.

Representing the Vatican and the Italian government respectively, Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, and Premier Mussolini, reunited their signatures on three historical documents, one a treaty solving and eliminating the "Roman question" which has existed ever since the loss of temporal power in 1870, and the second, a concordat, designed to regulate the relations of the church and state in Italy, and third, a convention settling the financial relations between the Holy See and Italy.

The text of these documents was not made public, since it must still be presented for discussion to the

SEND WOMAN SLAYER TO INSANE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Mary E. Fitzgibbons was found not guilty "by reason of insanity" today on a charge of murdering Patrolman Eleazar A. Saunders and was committed to the Boston Insane Hospital (Austin Farm) by Judge Quinn in Superior Court.

The verdict was the same that Mrs. Fitzgibbons, divorced wife of James E. Fitzgibbons, former business agent of the Taxi Drivers' Union, refused to consider two weeks ago when she was arraigned on the present charge.

Today, however, Judge Quinn, after hearing the circumstances, had a jury impaneled and, on hearing the testimony of four psychiatrists, all of whom declared that she was mentally unbalanced at the time of the slaying, the court

CITY COUNCIL IN NEW BATTLE OVER BRAVES

Another fiery session of the City Council is due today with the Braves' request for a Sunday baseball license again up for consideration, and the probable election of a council president.

Vice-President Charles F. Adams of the Braves announced that he had no intention of attending today's meeting, as he was too busy and believed the Council was through with him, anyway.

A revised application for the license was today filed to eradicate flaws that Council members discovered in the first one.

To clear up the dispute over the Braves' bond against injury to spectators, which the Sunday ordinance requires, Councilor Ruby said he would introduce an order today to fix the bond requirement at $100,000.

The Braves had filed a bond of this amount and had it approved

DUVEEN AGAIN HEARD IN $500,000 ART SUIT

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Refreshed by a week-ends respite from legal controversy, Sir Joseph Duveen took the stand in Supreme Court this morning for his fifth day of testimony in the $500,000 dealer title suit brought against him by Mrs. Andree Lardoux Hahn of Kansas City and Paris.

Way back in 1920 the art expert said a painting owned by Mrs. Hahn, "La Belle Ferronniere," was not a Leonardo da Vinci. Mrs. Hahn, disagreeing, contended that printed remark spoiled her sale of the picture to the Kansas City Art Museum.

The disputed picture and a photograph of another "La Belle" in the Louvre—Sir Joseph holds that the latter is a real Leonardo and Mrs. Hahn's only a copy—were again in the courtroom as S. Lawrence Miller, Mrs. Hahn's counsel, resumed his examination of the self-possessed baronet.

The first questions concerned the eyelashes of the young lady in the Hahn canvas.

"Do you see any indication of eyelashes?" asked Mr. Miller.

"No," answered Sir Joseph, "I don't feel they are there at all."

"You said the look of these is one proof it is not a Da Vinci?"

"It's not a requirement, but Da Vinci always painted his eyelashes as they are in nature," replied the critic.

TELLS OF MASTERPIECE

Then Sir Joseph pointed to hand, left his chair to instruct the jury in the "feel" of Da Vinci masterpieces.

"How do you describe the eyelashes in the Louvre paintings," asked Mr. Miller.

"In the real Leonardo," answered Sir Joseph, "they make you feel that they grow out of the flesh."

"In the Hahn painting what do they grow out of?"

"Not out of anything except some paint."

A photograph of the Mona Lisa was shown Sir Joseph.

"Does that picture have any eyebrows or any eyelashes?" asked Mr. Miller.

"Can you see the eyebrows, Sir Joseph?"

"Yes, I see them indicated."

"Do they seem to spring from the flesh?"

"Yes, naturally, quite lifelike."

Boy Held For Killing Lad Who Tried To Save Sparrow

Clinton, Feb. 11 (AP)—Stanley Wielk, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Konstanty Wielk, will be arraigned in district court Monday in connection with the death Saturday of Stanley Kulis, also 15, who was shot dead when he protested against Wielk's shooting at a sparrow.

It is expected the inquest will be held the same day. Dr. Charles B. Abbott, medical examiner who, assisted by Town Physician Grady and Dr. Edward F. Mitchell, conducted the autopsy, says he will report death due to homicide.

the tunnel, plus interest on $6,000,000 cost of approaches, would be $930,000.

A little more than 3,000,000 vehicles could be counted upon to share in paying this cost, he said.

He also said the location and nature of the approaches would be left to the commission conducting the construction of the tunnel. The $6,000,000 cost he figured on would include street widenings, and he said he saw no reason why the tolls should not be applied to the entire project—tunnel, approaches and widenings.

GIRL BREAKS 3 AIR RECORDS

few days ago, established a mark of 13 hours, 16 minutes and 45 seconds.

The girl aviator, who held the endurance record before Miss Smith made her attempt, broke by a wide margin the women's night flying record of eight hours. The third record, for distance covered by a woman in a plane such as Miss Trout is flying, was broken when she passed the 952-mile mark.

Miss Trout steadily kept her plane at an altitude of about 2000 feet and faultlessly weaved the trim ship back and forth above the field.

In the cockpit she had placed a sack of oranges, the only food she took aloft, and now and then an occasional orange peel drifted to earth.

A crowd of officials was at the airport, checking the flight, after an all-night vigil.

Miss Trout, who is 22 years old, took off at 5:30:45 p. m. yesterday, with the intention of remaining aloft 20 hours. She showed no inclination to land when she had broken the three records.

STARTS 60-DAY SENTENCE

THINK TO GRILL ADAMS TODAY

by the city law department. This the councillors thought, was improper inasmuch as the council should first have fixed the size of the indemnity.

Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner, who has investigated the $20,000 fund collected and expended by the Outdoor Recreation League in the Sunday sports campaign, said today he would reach a decision before night and announce his findings tomorrow.

In spite of announcement that the Braves' permit would be granted today, several councillors revealed a determination to thresh out more knotty points in the tangle in which the club has found itself in connection with Sunday games.

It is expected that vigorous opposition will be presented to bringing the question to a vote, but that, once the vote is taken, the license will be found to have been granted by a good margin, if not unanimously.

Today's meeting is, however, the regular weekly meeting of the council and not a public hearing on the baseball license as was the tumultuous session of Friday.

Application by the Red Sox for a similar permit has yet to be taken up and considerable discussion is in the offing over the question submitted to the corporation counsel of the city for an opinion in connection with the request of the American Leaguers.

assaulted by her husband after it was made. The judge took the divorce case under advisement.

Boardman, whom Federal authorities charged with being one of the "big shots" in the rum running industry, did not contest the case and was not present in court. He was represented by Atty. Francis M. Carroll.

THIRD DIVORCE ACTION.

Today's was the third divorce action brought since the Boardmans were married May 2, 1924. The first action was brought by Mrs. Boardman on August 15, 1927, and was never heard.

On May 8, 1928, the husband filed suit alleging cruel and abusive treatment and unfaithfulness, and on June 11, 1928, Mrs. Boardman brought a cross suit in which she made the same charges. At that time she had an attachment of $200,000 placed on the property of her husband.

Today's hearing was on Mrs. Boardman's cross suit, but the charge of unfaithfulness had been dropped.

Mrs. Boardman took the stand and testified to being married at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York and then coming to Boston with her husband. She said her husband beat her on April 22 and May 23, 1928, and this testimony was confirmed by Dr. Morris E. Barron and Dr. Maury Kaplan.

TREATED FOR BRUISES.

They testified to treating Mrs. Boardman on April 22 and May 23 respectively, for contusions and abrasions, and extreme nervousness.

Judge Prest asked Mrs. Boardman a question inaudible to the spectators, and she replied: "I objected to my husband's business."

When all the evidence was in, Atty. Hallen took up the $25,000 agreement, contending it should not be binding on Mrs. Boardman because her husband had beaten her after it was entered into. He asked for time in which to submit briefs to show why she should not come into court and seek alimony. Judge Prest ruled, however, that the agreement should stand.

ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Patrolman Saunders, attached to the Charlestown station, was slain in April, 1928, in an Irwin ave., Roxbury, apartment that police declared he hired and had occupied with Mrs. Fitzgibbons.

Five minutes after the shooting Mrs. Fitzgibbons rushed into the Dudley st. police station crying out that she had shot the policeman.

In her handbag was found the patrolman's service revolver. There was also a note disposing of her effects.

When she was arraigned January 31 in Superior Court on the murder charge, Dist. Atty. Foley said he was willing to have a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity," but Mrs. Fitzgibbons declared she did not want that verdict and would go to trial on the facts.

Town Buried 9 Days In Snow Is Dug Out; 3000 Near Dead

Sarejevo, Jugoslavia, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Moslem town of Gradsko, near here, today was dug out of the snowy sepulchre in which it had been buried for nine days. The army engineering corps rescued the half-frozen and famished population of 3000 persons.

For more than a week the Government had sought to reach the isolated township under its mountains of snow. All expedients failed until the army supper corps hacked its way through the ice and snow, carrying food, medicines and blankets to the population, many of whom had resigned themselves to death. The last of the food and fuel were gone.

of the reasons set forth by the former mayor as grounds for such a survey.

ASKS MILLS PARLEY.

"Mill hands and employers should be called together in our textile centers to give their opinions as to the cause for the disastrous slump into which our chief industry has fallen," he said.

"We have heard various reasons advanced. Manufacturers claim that high taxes and the 48-hour law are responsible. It is up to the Governor of the State to get at the root of the trouble and strive to save the textile industry from extinction in this State.

"I advocated such a survey five years ago, but action has been deferred year after year.

"The port of Boston has been blighted by those in power at Washington in spite of continued attempts by far-sighted business men of the city to lift it from the depths.

APPROVES HOOVER TRIP.

Commenting on the South American trip of President-elect Hoover, "John F." said:

"We have heard criticism of the trip from many quarters. In my opinion Mr. Hoover would be justified in taking ten naval vessels to the South American countries if such action would improve our business and social relations with our southern neighbors.

"The idea was novel but sound, and I believe is an indication that the President-elect will accomplish many things beneficial to American business."

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 11 (AP)—A marine detachment has been sent to Talpaneca, Nuevo Segovia, where outlaws killed four Nicaraguans Saturday.

Marine headquarters information is that desertions have left the forces of Gen. Augustina Sandino almost negligible in quantity. It is said, however, that many desertions are temporary, the soldiers leaving for a while and then returning.

NEILAN FALLS ILL IN GARAGE

Los Angeles, Feb. 11—Marshall Neilan, noted film director, was in a serious condition today after being overcome by fumes in the garage at his Beverly Hills home.

His plight was discovered by his wife, Blanche Sweet, screen star, who with the aid of servants broke in the door of the garage.

Miss Sweet said that her husband evidently had locked the garage doors while the automobile motor was running, and was overcome before he could leave the small room by a door which connected directly with the house. The accident occurred when Miss Sweet and Neilan arrived home from a dance and visit at friends' homes.

SECOND BOMB PLOT STIRS MEXICO

Mexico City, Feb 11 (AP)—The greatest excitement Mexico City has known since the assassination of President-elect Obregon prevailed today.

Police guards were doubled because of the dynamiting of the train on which President Emilio Portes Gil was returning here and the discovery shortly after midnight of an unexploded bomb in the campaign headquarters of Aaron Saenz, presidential candidate.

Saenz is Governor of the State of Nuevo Leon, the candidate of the National Revolutionary party for the presidency, and is a son-in-law of ex-President Calles.

President Portes Gil and his party arrived here shortly after 1 o'clock this morning aboard the special train which had been the object of a bomb attack in the State of Guanajuato. A heavy military guard was kept about the Colonia station until after they left for their homes.

Adding to the Sabbath excitement were demonstrations accompanying the funeral of Gen. Obregon's assasin, Jose de Leon Toral, who was executed Saturday. Of 34 persons arrested 20 were women. Three persons were killed and a large number wounded.

The bombing of President Portes Gil's train took place as the locomotive passed over a bridge in the desert wilderness in the eastern part of the State of Guanajuato.

Troops were ordered out to search for the dynamiters and instructed to shoot or capture anyone connected with the incident.

STATE TO SPEND $15,000,000 ON ROADS

Including city and town contributions, the state department of public works expects to spend about $15,000,000 this year on highway improvements. The amount is practically the same as was spent in 1928.

One of the big improvements will be on the Mohawk trail, which will be closed to travel all summer from Charlemont on. Reconstruction and widening for a distance of nine to ten miles will be made at a cost of $651,000 in Florida, Savoy and Charlemont.

Contracts have been let for widening the Newburyport turnpike from 18 to 30 feet in Lynnfield, Peabody and Danvers at a cost of $188,500.

Two new bridges are to be built at Marion over the Wewenaic river to cost $224,000.

Other jobs include four and one-quarter miles of reconstruction in Millbury and Grafton on Worcester-Woonsocket-Providence route to cost $189,600; six and one-half miles reconstruction on the Shore route from Plymouth south, $227,000; widening in Sudbury and Wayland from Henry Ford road for distance of six miles, $350,000; about four miles of reconstruction in Seekonk and Rehoboth on Taunton-Providence route, $200,00; and rebuilding Parker River bridge in Newbury, $300,000.

COMB HUB FOR SECOND MAN IN DRUG CASE

With one man detained, police today searched the North End for a second man believed to have connection with $7500 worth of drugs police claim they found on Conrado Ajonay, 26-year-old Filipino.

Ajonay was held in the detention room of municipal court today while police waited for a report on analysis of the drugs before preferring a specific charge against him.

The Filipino was arrested by Patrolman Charles Bostwick of the Hanover st. station as Ajonay was about to board a bus for New York.

According to the policeman, Ajonay increased his pace on sighting Bostwick. This aroused the officer's suspicions and he headed Ajonay off and questioned him.

His evasive answers prompted Patrolman Bostwick to take Ajonay, who says he lives in Flushing, L. I., to the station.

There a bag he carried was searched and 12 pounds of what the police declare to be drugs was found inside. The product was shaped like potatoes and Ajonay insisted that it was potatoes.

In belief that they had captured the "messenger" who has been carrying drugs to New York from vessels touching at Boston, police detailed Sergt. Robert Mooney, Special Officers Joseph Flynn and John Coffin and Patrolmen William Lee and Mark Madden to work with federal investigators in an endeavor to trace the source of the drugs.

The federal men visited the Hanover st. station and questioned Ajonay at length, but without securing much information. Ajonay protested that he was innocent of any drug-running.

It is the belief of police, however, that much of the drugs flowing into New York and finding its way ultimately into the hands of New York men and women prominent in society circles, comes into Boston and is taken to New York either by bus or train.

'RESCUE' TRIALS ON $4 110 FEET UNDER WATER

Aboard U. S. Tender Mallard off Key West, Fla., Feb. 11 (AP)—Several men today were prepared to sink to a depth of 110 feet in the submarine S4, fasten on their mechanical "air lungs" and step out into the terrific pressure in an effort to demonstrate that men can escape from sunken submarines from great depths.

The tender Mallard, with the S4 in tow, steamed out into the Gulf stream from Key West last night, after a leaky periscope forced several days' idleness for repairs.

Already the safety devices with which the tests are being conducted have demonstrated that men can rise to the surface from depths varying from 40 to 76 feet without outside aid.

The Millard today carried Frank Hobson, civilian engineer and co-inventor of the oxygen mask, or lung, with which the successful escapes have been made, and Alberto Lais, Italian naval attache, who expected to witness the tests which were to be carried out at the approximate depth at which the ill-starred submarine rested after it was rammed and sunk by a coast guard cutter off Provincetown, Mass., a year ago.

POLICE CLEAN OUT DEVONSHIRE CLUB

SEIZE 24 CASES OF LIQUOR

Continuing their raids on clubs today, police swooped down on the Devonshire Commercial Club on Devonshire st., near Summer, and by a ruse succeeded in seizing 24 cases of rye and gin.

One arrest was made, William O'Brien, who gave his address as Charles st., Dorchester, was charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

Four men of the headquarters liquor squad participated in the raid. Garrett and Sheehan entered the building, went to the fourth floor and then climbed down the elevator well to the second floor, on which the club quarters are situated.

When the proper time came Special Officer Eli, seated at the wheel of a car outside, commenced blowing the horn and kept it up until the noise brought the alleged bartender to the window.

Garrett and Sheehan then entered and seized the liquor under the bar and in an office safe before the man in charge of it could get to it to destroy it. The fourth officer, Wiley, entered from the front to help in the windup of the raid.

At least a score more liquor and gambling establishments are to be wiped out in a vice crusade, the authorities announced, after raids Saturday on three well-known clubs resulted in 33 arrests. In each case the premises were entered by strong-arm methods, the raiders using sledgehammers and axes.

The places raided were the Fifty-Fifty Club, Lagrange st., near the division 4 station; the Hayes-Square Club, Charlestown, and the A. R. C. Club, Harrison ave.

Something akin to panic spread through Hub speakeasies and greater precautions than ever were being taken today. "Hobnail" George Golding of the intelligence division of the prohibition enforcement arm of the national government, who smashed several rum rings in Chicago, is reported here working with a special force of agents.

The police raids followed a federal raid on the one-time Morning Glories Club in Charlestown, near the City sq. police station.

TEX RICKARD CLEARED OF TAX FRAUD

Washington, Feb. 11 (AP)—A few high spots in the career of the late George L. (Tex) Rickard were reviewed today in a decision by the Board of Tax Appeals which found that he had not committed fraud in failing to report as income in 1921 his share of profits from the Dempsey-Carpentier championship fight.

Rickard, the record showed, received $40,000 as his share of the picture profits, but half of it went to a silent partner, John Rangling. Rickard did not report that part of his income on the grounds that interstate transportation of the films was a violation by the law and that he expected litigation to wipe out his profit.

A claim of a $1000 loss in a saloon and gambling house in Rawhide, Nev., was disallowed.

Other claims for deductions were for bad debts, ranging from $100, listed as loaned to Battling Nelson in 1919, to $5000 listed as loaned to W. A. Gavin the same year.

Rickard claimed other deductions as the result of his investment in the Frigorifico San Salvador del Paraguay, a meat packing company.

He claimed losses of $75,000 and $125,000 as a result of this venture. His original investment in the company was $200,000.

Central Vermont Ends Ice Harvest

St. Albans, Vt., Feb. 11—Completion of the harvest of 18,000 tons of ice used for railway purposes was reported by C. E. Donaldson, supervisor of bridges and buildings for the road, who has been in charge of the harvesting operations at East Alburg.

Ten thousand tons of the ice, Mr. Donaldson reported, have been stored in St. Albans while the remainder was taken to White River Junction and Burlingham for storage purposes. As 18,000 tons will not care for the needs of the railway, local supplies will be purchased during the summer at Randolph and Montpelier.

SLEEPY DRIVER ARRESTED

Found asleep in his car after, it is alleged, he tried to run down a policeman, Charles A. Crawford, alias Lyman, who said he lived on Eden st., Charlestown, appeared in Somerville court, today, on charges of violating the automobile law and drunkenness.

He was arrested on Mystic ave., Somerville, by Patrolman Curran in an automobile that was parked by the side of the road. He had previously according to the police, attempted to run a patrolman down on Washington st.

WARNS AGAINST HALT IN WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT

Although the battle against tuberculosis has been practically won, the general preventive measures now in force should not be relaxed, since there will always be tubercular germs, said Dr. E. A. Locke in a public lecture on "Pulmonary Tuberculosis" at the Harvard Medical School auditorium. He conveied special warning against quack doctors and quack medicines.

He displayed a chart which showed that the death rate in Boston from pulmonary tuberculosis had dropped in the last 45 years from 42.2 deaths per 10,000 inhabitants to 7.2 deaths.

In explaining the decrease in deaths from tuberculosis, Dr. Locke stated that better economic and hygienic conditions were largely responsible. Education, anti-tuberculosis crusades and the like have aided science in fighting the disease.

HITS ONLY WEAK

In discussing the origin of pulmonary tuberculosis, which represents 80 per cent of tubercular ailments, the lecturer said that practically every person at one time or another is infected with the germs. Infants are especially in danger, because of their habit of putting things in their mouths.

People in normal health are not affected by germs, which can only gain a foot in a system which has a low resistance. In many cases the germs enter the system early in the patient's life, but do not make progress until the infected person becomes generally run down. Dusty work, undernourishment and low vitality are a few of the common conditions which permit the tuberculer germs to spread through the system.

COURAGE BIG AID

There are no specific or alarming early symptoms to warn the tubercular victim. For this reason the physician seldom discovers the presence of the disease until it has reached an advanced stage. A persistent cough, abnormal daily fatigue, rapid pulse and a recurring fever invariably accompany tuberculosis, but the average person disregards these warnings until the later and more serious stages of lung disease are reached, substantial loss of weight have appeared.

The success of any treatment for pulmonary tuberculosis depends principally on the individual. The ill patient has much less chance of recovering than a courageous one, it is also useless to cope with the progress. Dr. Locke declared that "the fight should always be waged against the disease, regardless of how advanced it may be, before the patient is beaten."

FIGHT ON LIGHT RATE ENDED

Fight of the Cambridge Electric Light Company against the order of the State Department of Public Utilities slashing its rates from 8 to 5½ cents per kilowatt hour officially ended today when U. S. Circuit Court Judge George H. Boynton signed a decree dismissing the suit without costs.

All the company's evidence had been put in before Scott Wilson, special master, and the state department had just begun its side of the case when the company announced four days ago that it was withdrawing.

King, Weighing Only 112, Hopes He's Not Too Heavy

Bognor, Sussex, England, Feb. 11 (AP)—It was officially stated at Craigwell House today that King George passed a good night.

A story indicates King George's illness may have reduced his weight to 112 pounds.

It is said he was quite cheerful and jollied those who carried him to the ambulance. He told them he hoped they would not find him too heavy. When told they had been practising with a 175-pound man the king laughed and said he weighed only 112.

"It is a good thing for you you don't have to carry that big policeman outside Buckingham Palace. I believed he weighs 280 pounds," he said.

PARKER WARNS BUS DRIVERS

Reporting nine deaths from automobile accidents in the State during the past week, George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles, today said that "at the rate bus accidents are increasing, it is necessary to take drastic action against bus drivers who are found at fault."

In connection with the report the registrar says:

"It is gratifying this week to report a list much shorter than usual, or four less than the annual weekly average. The record of Worcester was marred by the death of still another boy while coasting. Two pedestrians were killed by alleged hit-and-run drivers. One fatality again demonstrated that it is very dangerous to try to jump on a moving truck. Another gives warning to all repairmen or others called upon to crawl under a car to make repairs to make doubly sure that the engine is shut off and that the brakes are firmly set."

Sixty-six persons were convicted the past week for operating while under the influence of liquor, nine more than in the preceding week; five were committed to jail, three from district courts and two from superior courts; one person was convicted for the second time within six years in a district court for operating while under the influence of liquor. He was given a jail sentence and appealed.

There were 449 licenses and registrations suspended or revoked last week, 110 more than in the week before and 88 more than in the same period last year; 69 of these were for driving after drinking intoxicating liquor.

PRELATES AND M. D.'S LAND IN HUB

Four noted physicians of Scotland and two noted prelates of Ireland were prominent among the arrivals today on the White Star liner Albertic at Commonwealth Pier.

The physicians, of Aberdeen, Scotland, are Drs. Gordon M. Dean, Alexander Mitchell, Andrew Fowler and J. R. Mackenzie. They will inspect hospitals in this city, Baltimore, St. Louis and Rochester, N. Y.

The clergymen are the Rev. Dr. Christopher Moynihan of Cork, Ireland, a Franciscan father, who plans a three months' tour of this country, and Rev. Brother Peter Curtin, also of Cork, general of the Presentation Brothers.

Brother Curtin comes to inspect schools conducted by his society in this country and Canada.

Another interesting arrival was Sarah Butler, 17, a native of Lowell, Ari., who was taken to England by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Butler, more than 15 years ago. This was her first visit to the land of her birth.

The Albertic docked a day late with passengers from Queenstown and Liverpool.

Other arrivals were Maj. and Mrs. Frank Garratt of Jamestown, N. Y. and their little daughters, Elizabeth, four, and Ann, three, and Miss Gertrude Kivlehan of County Sligo, Ireland, who came to visit relatives in Boston and New York.

Three Dead, 1 Dying, Hit-Runner Victims

Old Westbury, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—Three men were killed and a woman was seriously injured when their automobile left the Jericho turnpike at the Post ave. crossing here and crashed into a tree. A woman had both legs crushed and internal injuries. She was not expected to live.

Witnesses told police that two cars were racing down the turnpike. They appeared to touch fenders as they crossed Post ave. and one car crashed into a tree. The other car, described as a big black sedan, did not stop and it and its occupants are being sought by police.

Freshmen at B. C. to Give Frolic

The annual freshman frolic of the Boston College Club of 1932 will be held tomorrow evening at the University Club. Gerald V. Hearn of Dorchester is the chairman of the dance committee.

Edward Gallagher of Brighton is the president of the class. Ted Malion's orchestra of Salem will play.

The general committee consists of Daniel J. Larkin, Fred A. McLaughlin, Carl Teddy, Thomas Tierney, John Conners, Joseph R. Merrick, Joseph E. Cronin, Gerald Moore, Frank Sullivan, John McCarthy, Joseph Kelley and John Dolan.

Ex-Church Organist Seized as "Peeper"

West Sayville, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—A former church organist, whose wife last December acted as witness to his marriage to one of his music pupils, was in the West Sayville lockup today charged with peeping into the home of wife No. 2 and disturbing a church service.

John and Teddy Van Weyn, brothers of wife No. 2, told police that they saw the former organist, Herbert Leich Manuell, looking through a window of their home. They rushed out, pounced upon him and tied him hand and foot with ropes.

False Alarm "Fiend" Suspect Held; May Be Hub Culprit

Worcester, Feb. 11 (AP)—The mystery of intermittent epidemics of false alarms in Boston, Newton, Worcester, Brockton, Nantucket, Jersey City, N. J.; New London, Norwich and Willimantic, Ct., may be solved with the arrest of Harold E. Ouimet, 22, of this city, police believe. In Ouimet's pockets were found charts of the fire alarm telegraph systems in those cities.

Ouimet is charged with ringing false fire alarms. The Worcester fire department, worn out by its long battle with the fire in the Chapin block, was kept on the jump again answering seven false alarms which Ouimet is alleged to have rung in quick succession.

Public Invited to Debate on Insurance Bill

A PUBLIC debate on the Goodwin-Boston Evening American plan to provide automobile compulsory insurance at cost to Massachusetts car owners will take place next Friday evening in Dorchester High School for Girls, Codman sq., by Young Men's Debating Club of Dorchester. The debate will begin at 8 p. m. and the public is invited to attend, free. This debate will give Dorchester motorists a good opportunity to familiarize themselves with the subject.

Arthur J. Sweeney, moderator of the club, announces the question for debate is, "Resolved, That the present compulsory automobile insurance law should be so amended as to conform with the proposed Goodwin-Boston Evening American plan."

The affirmative will be upheld by John R. Brosnan and Joseph F. Rogers; the negative by Daniel C. O'Leary and John F. Good. The judges will be William D. Keaney, member of the advisory board of Dorchester High School Center; John B. Hynes, attorney and Francis X. McInnis, graduate of Catholic University. School Committeeman Joseph J. Hurley will be chairman.

Ex-Legislator Backs Insurance Bill

As a result of a bitter experience which resulted in his wife being crippled by an automobile accident, former Representative Arthur Bower of Lawrence strongly favors the bill filed in the Massachusetts Legislature by Frank A. Goodwin and the Boston Evening American.

This bill, House No. 225, provides for the establishment of a State fund to furnish compulsory insurance to Massachusetts automobile owners at cost, at a saving to them of $7,500,000 annually. This would be brought about by charging $16 for insurance on a passenger car at the time of registration, $25 on a truck and $50 on a taxi, rental car or bus.

These insurance charges by the State would create a fund of $16,267,894, based on 1928 registrations. Instead of paying this total Bay State car owners will pay between $20,000,000 and $21,000,000 this year to private insurance companies who are now lobbying against the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill in order to retain the "cream."

CITES OWN CASE:

Former Rep. Bower says:

"I wish to thank the Boston Evening American and Mr. Goodwin for their efforts to secure a State fund to substitute the unjust and unfair compulsory insurance law in our Commonwealth. We are driving people and industries away from us. They are locating in other states. Why? Because of the oppression of our State government.

"Does the present law compensate an individual if he may be injured by a drunkard? No. If he be injured by an unlicensed driver or if the insured violates his policy the injured party has no claim. I am writing from experience in my own home and feel it keenly with a crippled wife near me at the present time. I am told that this insurance company pays its attorney $80,000 a year to fight such cases as mine and no fault on our part because the owner of the car that did the damage had no license and was arrested and fined for so doing.

"I have served in the State Legislature and city government of Lawrence and have always received a flattering vote which I greatly appreciate. The only thing I regret is that I can't vote as a member of the General Court for the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill but will send a letter to our senator and representative endorsing the bill. I hope you are successful in your efforts."

FAKE CLAIMS ELIMINATED

Vast sums of money will not be paid to attorneys to defeat just claims if the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill becomes a law. Just treatment will be accorded all persons injured, by the State commission of three, who would be appointed by the governor and council. Not only would just claims be properly attended to but fake claims would be eliminated and persons instituting them prosecuted.

The flat rate of $16 on every passenger car wherever garaged, $25 on every truck and $50 on every taxi, bus and rental car, proposed by the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill, appeals strongly to motorists. These rates, based on 1928 registrations, would create a State fund of $12,367,894, and save $7,500,000 yearly to motorists.

Readers of the Boston Evening American have written many interesting letter relative to their experiences under the present compulsory insurance law. They do not hesitate to condemn it in round terms. They all are of the opinion that the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill, if enacted into law, will relieve them of the burdens they are carrying under the present law. Some of these statements are as follows:

AUTOISTS? ATTENTION!

Additional petitions may be had for circulation by addressing: Petition Editor, Boston Evening American, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM B. SHANNON of 131 South st., Jamaica Plain—I am in favor of the Goodwin-Boston Evening American compulsory insurance bill. I am enclosing petition slips signed by myself and friends, whose point of view on the present status of the compulsory insurance situation is the same as mine. In my opinion it is a disgrace to the State of Massachusetts for the present conditions to exist.

PRAISES AMERICAN

H. S. TITILBAUM of Dorchester—I believe in the Goodwin-Boston American insurance plan for motorists. If we had more men like Mr. Goodwin and more newspapers like the Boston Evening American this would be a better world to live in. Car owners are being overtaxed and a good many of them can hardly make both ends meet. Every car owner should wake up and support this bill. I hope it will meet with success. The Boston Evening American has always stood for a square deal.

ERNEST LEMAIRE of Belmont—Enclosed find signatures favoring your petition to the legislature. It is good to know that there are still a few men left to look after the interests of the under-dog. Massachusetts is sadly in need of more "Goodwins."

CHARLES A. MURRAY, of 126 Oxford st., Cambridge: Judging from the demonstration at the insurance men's banquet in Hotel Statler, the other night, I think Governor Fuller knew what he was talking about when he said, "The insurance lobby got away with everything but the State House." Good luck to you in your battle. I will attend the hearing on the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill at the State House, February 20, at 10 a. m., if possible.

AGNES M. CLARK, of 50 Century st., West Medford: I am in favor of your bill and sincerely hope it passes. It is time some one came to the rescue of the working man and middle classes. With high taxes and high insurance rates, it keeps the middle class down to the grindstone all the time. I know of two cases where people in Somerville have registered and insured their cars in Medford territory. Present compulsory insurance rates constitute highway robbery.

The Boston Evening American invites its readers to write of their experience under the present compulsory insurance laws, their opinions of same, and also their opinions of the Goodwin-Boston Evening American bill. The bigger and broader this discussion is the more effective it will be.

Petition to Legislature to Pass Auto Insurance Bill

I am a citizen of Massachusetts and sign this petition to the Legislature to pass the new compulsory auto insurance bill proposed by Frank A. Goodwin and endorsed by the Boston Evening American.

boys the Boston Sunday Advertiser will reprint all of the questions that have appeared, week by week, up to that Sunday.

The answer to each question in this contest will be marked according to the value that has been placed upon it by the United States Flag Association, so that, the harder the question, the higher the mark it will receive.

The total value for the entire 75 questions is 150 points in the contest, and contestants who submit perfect answers to the entire 75 will be given this marking. The composition of the essay will be graded on the basis of 35 points for a perfect essay, and 15 points will be the basis for judging the recitation of the essay. Thus, the highest mark in the entire contest will be 200.

The condensed rules and regulations governing the contest are repeated herewith, for the benefit of those who have not already seen them, and a complete set of these regulations will be furnished those who apply to conduct contests:

1—The Contest is open to every boy and girl in the United States, regardless of race, creed and color, between the ages of 14 and 18, on Flag Day, June 14, this year, provided they, or their parents or guardians, are not employed by any Hearst newspaper or Hearst newspaper organization. Boys and girls whose 18th birthday falls on Flag Day are eligible to compete, but those whose 18th birthday comes before that date are ineligible.

2—Boys will compete only against boys, and girls only against girls, each receiving identical awards.

3—Contests will be conducted in the various communities of the United States by public high schools, or their equivalent in private or parochial schools, or by patriotic or civic organizations in the community. Each school or organization conducting a Contest will be known as a "Local Contest Unit."

4—There must be at least 25 Contestants in each Contest Unit. They may be all boys or all girls, or if a Unit is conducting a Contest for both boys and girls, at least six of the Contestants must be either boys or girls.

5—Any school or organization may obtain authority to conduct a Flag Contest by writing to the Flag Contest Editor of the Boston Evening American and stating the approximate number of Contestants they will have. All supplies and information will be furnished free.

6—Boys and girls wishing to enter the Contest should talk to their teachers or the heads of patriotic organizations and to their parents, urging someone to conduct a Flag Contest in their community.

7—As many Flag Contests as there are schools or organizations in a city or community that wishes to conduct them may be held, but no boy or girl may enter more than one Contest.

8—Winners in School and Organization Contests will be awarded the "Old Glory Medal" of the United States Flag Association and life membership in the Order of the Flag, the Legion of Honor of the United States Flag Association of which Lindbergh was the first member. Their papers will be sent to the offices of the sponsoring Hearst newspaper in their territory to be judged by a jury of prominent men and women.

9—The boy and girl chosen by the Regional Juries of Award as Regional Flag Champions will be given a free trip to Washington and other patriotic shrines and the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association. Their papers will be judged in Washington by a National Jury of Award and the three boys and the three girls receiving the highest marks will recite their essays in a competition to determine the National Flag Champions.

10—The National Flag Champions will be given a free trip around the world, accompanied by women of national prominence, a complete traveling wardrobe, including trunks and hand luggage, and $200 in spending money.

11—Complete rules and regulations governing the Flag Contest will be sent to the heads of schools and organizations upon receipt of an application to conduct a Contest.

CUT OUT AND SAVE THE FIRST EIGHT QUESTIONS.

WATCH WEDNESDAY'S BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN FOR THE NEXT EIGHT QUESTIONS.

Attention!

Any school or organization that has not yet received an invitation to conduct a Flag Contest from the United States Flag Association need not wait for such an invitation but may communicate directly with the Flag Contest Editor of the Boston Evening American. All information will be gladly furnished as will all supplies necessary to conduct a Contest free of cost.

Today's Hapism

Thomas A. Edison.

"America's Grand Old Man," and the world's foremost inventor, was born on February 11, 1847. Daniel Boone, colorful figure in America's pioneering days, was born on this date in 1735. These men, each contributing in his individual way to the glorification of Old Glory, might be regarded as typifying the spirit of America and its symbol, the Stars and Stripes. Edison recently heartily indorsed the Flag Contest now being sponsored by the Hearst Newspapers.

ELKS CHARITY BALL TONIGHT

Lieut.-Gov. William S. Youngman will deliver the 11 o'clock toast at the annual charity ball of the Boston lodge of Elks this evening at the Elks hotel, for which lavish preparations have been made.

Prominent state and city officials have been invited and a record crowd is expected to attend the function, the entire proceeds of which will go to charity.

A concert by skilled musicians, followed by a grand march, in which 100 couples will participate, will open the program.

Dancing will continue until 1 a.m., interspersed with appearances of a long list of well-known footlight favorites recruited from local theaters. The committee in charge is headed by Frank J. O'Rourke, John J. McKenna and Fred E. Bowen. Hon. George Curran, exalted ruler, will be floor marshal.

(Value one point.)

4—Of the different ways that the stars were arranged, what was the significance of the circle arrangement?
(Value two points.)

5—When was the number of stars and stripes in the Flag increased to fifteen?
(Value one point.)

6—What was the reason for this?
(Value one point.)

7—When was the number of stripes in the flag changed back to thirteen and the number of stars increased to twenty?
(Value one point.)

8—What was the occasion for increasing the number of stars to twenty?
(Value one point.)

16 Arrested in South End Raid

Police from the East Dedham st. station swooped down on the Washington Hotel, Washington st., South End, and arrested seven alleged gamblers, a woman charged with being idle and disorderly, and four man and four women charged with serious offenses.

The raiding squad entered rooms that were unlocked and in many instances broke down doors where they found resistance.

SOME SNOW OR RAIN TONIGHT

Rain or snow tonight or Tuesday is likely to be Boston's fare, according to the weather experts, but the approaching storm is declared to be of mild intensity.

Moreover, there is no severe cold in view any nearer than Texas, and in spite of the threat of moisture the Hub should be fairly comfortable for 36 hours, the forecaster predicts.

The snow or rain is expected to come from the outer rim of a storm now centering over the Great Lakes and due to sweep to sea well to the north of Boston.

The forecast for Boston and vicinity: Partly cloudy, probably with some rain or snow tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature; moderate westerly winds.

10,000 Autoists at Hampton Beach

Hampton Beach, N. H., Feb. 11—Nearly 10,000 persons visited Hampton Beach on Sunday, the automobile traffic resembling an April or May Sunday crowd. Most of the visitors came to inspect the ruins of the fire, which a week ago this morning destroyed seven cottages and badly damaged another.

TARIFF BOARD TAKES UP SILK DUTIES

Washington, Feb. 11—Entering on its sixth week of hearings on the matter, the House ways and means committee gave its attention today to silk, paper and books in connection with the wholesale revision of the tariff at the special session of the new Congress.

These subjects will be considered for the next five days. Next week will be devoted to sundries and the free list, with the administrative provisions coming up for consideration February 25. This will conclude the open sessions at which, to date, 680 witnesses have pressed hundreds of proposals for changes in the import duty structure, most increases.

That a majority of the suggestions will be ignored is the opinion held rather generally among Republican Congressional leaders. They hold that only in isolated instances outside the agricultural rates will there be a necessity for upward revision.

The return of Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee from Florida, where he conferred last week with President-elect Hoover, with the opinion that there should be no tinkering with rates other than those applying to agriculture, except in a few scattered instances, has served to allay the fears of the moderate revisionists of the House.

Rescue Cutter in Port

The Coast Guard cutter Tampa, Capt. T. M. Molloy, which rescued the British freighter Silver Maple in a gale and towed her successfully into Hamilton, Bermuda, last week, is at the Charlestown navy yard.

GIRL SHIELDS SUSPECTED SLAYER

Fitchburg, Feb. 11—Frances Lunetta, 21, of Hale st., questioned by Inspectors Louis Collereto and Philip Hines, of Brooklyn, N. Y., denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of Jimmie Maffeo, 25, Brooklyn gambler, wanted for questioning in the holdup of an all night card game, and the death of four men in New York last December.

Saying that she believed him to be innocent of any wrongdoing, and not connected with the crime, the girl expressed her undying love for "Jimmie" and her hope to marry him some day whenever he is ready to settle down in a bungalow.

Both inspectors came here several days ago and with the assistance of Police Chief Thomas J. Godley have been running down a number of tips that Maffeo was hiding in this city. Confronting the girl they sought to know when she saw him last and what knowledge she had of the crime in New York.

Professing ignorance of everything pertaining to crime, the girl told a straightforward story, the police said. Despite rumors that the man had been in town recently, she said that she has not seen him for a number of weeks though has frequently corresponded with him.

She listened with awed interest as the police recounted the crime in New York, of how four men were playing cards and eight other armed men intruded and opened fire. There was an exchange of shots, one of the card players killing two of the intruders instantly. Another man jumped out a window and was killed. The police have linked Jimmie's name with this affair.

According to the police Miss Lunetta said that she met Jimmie about a year and a half ago

AWAIT REPORT OF AUTOPSY IN BOY'S DEATH

Clinton, Feb. 11—Stanley Wielk, 15, of 22 Branch st., appears in juvenile court here today as a result of the shooting to death of Stanley Kulis, newsboy, of 281 Green st., Saturday, after the Kulis boy had reprimanded Wielk and a companion for having shot at a sparrow.

No charge has as yet been preferred against the youth, and he was released to his parents following questioning in connection with the death.

At the orders of Dist. Atty. Charles B. Rugg, Dr. Charles H. Abbott, associate medical examiner, performed an autopsy. At the conclusion he announced that in his report he would state that death was the result of internal hemorrhage caused by a rifle ball which entered the neck.

Dr. Abbott was assisted in the autopsy by Drs. Edward F. Mitchell and Patrick A. S. Grady. It is understood that Judge Allan G. Buttrick has given notice that he will not hold an inquest into the case.

Chief of Police Clifford Stone asserts that he is waiting for action by the judge before filing specific charge against young Wielk.

NORTH AND SOUTH DIVIDE INTEREST OF SOCIETY—BETTY A LDEN

William H. Mayo to Entertain Party at Peterborough Homestead

COUNTRY LIFE WILL BE THE THING FOR THE HOLIDAY that approaches so swiftly on February's calendar. Briefly but ardently the fashionables will desert the town for hillsides that are snow-covered and secluded ponds now frosted with shining ice. Everyone who has an out-of-town habitation, either New England farmhouse or palatial mansion, will be in residence with guests. Formality will go by the board and rugged woolens, bright blobs of color against pines and cedars, oust flimsy fripperies from feminine wardrobes. One of the merriest of parties goes up Sand Hill rd. out of Peterborough to be guests at the William H. Mayo place.

RIMMED IN BY ROLLING HILLS, THE MAYO PLACE IS ONE of Peterborough's brightest gems. Its farmhouse, restored by craftsmen who loved their work, is the crowning achievement of the place where Mr. Mayo has glorified an old cow barn into the most adorable of guest houses and contrives out of an old hay barn something to bring exclamations of delight from those addicted to the dance, when they behold it. Mr. Mayo, his sister, Mrs. Wilbur Grant, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Mayo and her pretty debutante daughter, Miss Clarissa Mayo, have a host of friends who count a stay at Peterborough a most delightful experience in the week-end chronicle.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE GO THE TRAVELERS who now desert a town environment for others that boast late winter attractions such as the sportive flying fish and tropical scents wafted on balmy breezes. Year-round guests living at the Hotel Sheraton depart in numbers; for them some of those bright tinted travel folders will be translated into fact and pictured marvels become reality. Harry C. Gibbs is en route to California and arrives at that much vaunted State by way of Phoenix, Arizona, and before finally arriving east once more will do the Grand Canyon and other star attractions of the Golden West.

CALIFORNIA'S QUOTA OF MASSACHUSETTS LATE WINTER visitors includes the widely traveled John L. Nicholses, who have roved much about the world and know all the beaten paths, and many still unheralded by enterprising travel bureaus. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols make Los Angeles their California mecca and return to Boston when spring is newly green, coming home via the canal and the long route some forty-niners traversed in the long ago.

BERMUDA, BUILT SO painstakingly cell on cell that society might have a mid-ocean midwinter playground, has its manifold delights. Mrs. Buckingham Miller is putting in several weeks on the Summer Isles and has an apartment at the Bermudiana for her stay. The sportiveness of certain southern golf links famous for the ancient game attracts Mr. Miller meanwhile. Mrs. Juliette Dean, also of the Sheraton, finds Florida's vaunted sunshine and its shining sands a duo of attractions not to be resisted when one hails from Boston where climate has its vagaries, not always pleasant.

Mrs. Lee Winslow Court leads the grand march of the Copley Society's Fine Arts Ball tomorrow evening at the Hotel Statler.

California, Bermuda and Florida Lure Late Winter Migrants From Boston; Copley Society's Ball Bids Fair to Be the Most Gorgeous Ever

ATTIRED AS KINGS AND QUEENS OF BYGONE DAYS WHEN potentates really were potentates and kingdoms quite the fashion, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Francis Law and a party of friends will add a leavening of majesty to the colorful pageant of the Copley Society's Fine Arts Ball. The imperial ballroom of the Hotel Statler will be imperial indeed, on Tuesday evening as lords and ladies, empresses, kings, maids in waiting and the court jester move about in the medley. In the royal group there will be Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John McKay, Miss Helen Appleton, Mr. Karl Appleton and George Sagendorf, and their raiment according to prophets who have had a preliminary view, out royals royalty itself.

SHAKESPEARE'S IMMORTAL ROMANCE, WITH ITS APPEALing youthful lovers and picturesque robes lends a rich note to the ensemble. Young people, who know their Shakespeare as members of the Shakespeare Club should, and who have historic talents, as belonging to The Amateurs, do the characters as the Bard of Avon immortalized them. Philip Fowler is Romeo; Miss Laura Drake is Juliet; Miss Frances Sprague is the nurse; Francis Coulter is Tybalt, Irving Locke the Capulet, Mrs. Frederick H. Briggs is Lady Capulet and Frederick Briggs is the Friar Lawrence.

MRS. BRIGGS IS A DINNER HOSTESS BEFORE THE BALL, for her Shakespearean guests. Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman also entertains at dinner, preliminary to arriving at the Statler when the ball is well under way. The Society's golden anniversary is to be gloriously done, with the circles of society and the arts intermingled to bring back to 1929 something of the pageantry Copley Society affairs were famous for in other years. A gorgeous history stretches back their fifty years, many of which had Hollker Abbott as leader of the society.

SPEAKING OF THE AMATEURS, THE NAMES OF MRS. Briggs, Frank Coulter and Irving Locke, appear in the cast of "Craig's Wife" as that fine old organization does its second play of its 22nd season. Messrs. David Clark, Derby Brown, Royal G. Whiting, Rousl W. Beach, and Miss Lorraine Sibley, Mrs. W. S. Railsbeck, and Mrs. Elizabeth Upham Stevens have parts. A long and honorable history have The Amateurs, and those who belong within the charmed circle of the organization and are in Whitney Hall on the evening of Feb. 20 will see an opening as perfect as they have come to expect from whatever has The Amateurs stamp upon it.

EVEN THE DISTRACTIONS OF HIGH SOCIETY, AS PALM Beach serves them to her choicest set, cannot for always claim the time of Mrs. Reginald Boardman. That most decorative of matrons signifies her intention of becoming an owner on the turf. And so is the latest of prominent society women to go in seriously for racing. She commences her turf career with what the horsemen call a select string, though small; and with a purse well filled with expert advice at her command her advent into the field is most auspicious. The Boardmans are basking in the brilliant sunshine of Palm Beach, their usual winter habitat, and move with the elect in that smartest of resorts.

Quincy Clubwomen Lauded for Work

With the passing of the influenza epidemic in Quincy 1500 of its victims are today singing the praises of the Quincy Woman's Club.

This club, through its public health department, headed by Mrs. Marcus Wight, sent six visiting nurses into the battle. These nurses, on duty 24 hours a day throughout January, have written an epic in community service which will long endear them to the public.

Mrs. Marcus Wight

During the four weeks the disease raged, the nurses, superintended by Miss Ruth Rigby, answered an average of 346 calls per week against an average of 256 in normal times.

Often they found whole families stricken where they expected to attend only one patient, yet they never faltered.

"We had to be laundresses, cooks, dishwashers and nurses all in one many times, and it was hard to leave patients who should really have had constant attention after only the necessities had been attended to," Miss Rigby said. "But all of us gave every ounce of our strength and still were sometimes late in answering the flood of appeals coming from Wollaston, Squantum, Hough's Neck, Atlantic and the Quincys."

Miss Rigby sought far for an emergency nurse to help during this time but found hospitals handicapped by illness of their staffs and not a single nurse available. City and State health departments were unable to find one for her and so the "indomitable six" carried on, answering every call.

OFFERED THEIR CARS

The Red Cross gave the use of a taxi for 10 days and then the Quincy Woman's Club got into action with a "volunteer motor corps" of 41 women offering the use of their automobiles with a driver for emergency calls. Mrs. Francis J. Carr is in charge of this vital part of the service.

The visiting nurses, established by the club in 1905, when one nurse gave her services, now number six graduates, including Miss Eleanor Parsons, Miss Herberta Stockwell, Miss Gertrude Harmon, Miss Beasie Wybiron, Miss Helen Reed and Miss Rigby, the superintendent.

The Quincy Woman's Club provides their living quarters on the entire second floor of the club house.

The service is for all, irrespective of race, color or creed and is the same for all, whether paid or free. The fee is never over $1 per call. Part of it is hygiene education.

A total of $1000 a month in salaries is paid to the nurses, supplied by the Quincy Woman's Club, assisted by public subscriptions, fees from families able to pay and from calls made for the insurance companies.

GRILL 4 GIRLS IN SLAYING OF CHIAMPA

Important developments in connection with the investigation into the murder of Anthony Chiampa in Revere were expected today as a result of the grilling of 11 persons, four of them women, by District Attorney William J. Foley and Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle.

Inspector Joseph Casagnano, Sergt. William J. Harrow and Special Officers Thomas J. Keating and Lawrence O'Connor rounded up the group, two of the women members of which are said to have been sweethearts of members of Chiampa's gang.

As a result of nine hours' questioning, two taxi drivers were interviewed by the authorities in consequence of which it is understood the Chiampa gang has been traced from an address in Revere Beach to the Friend st. pool room, where a dice game was held up, and back to a room where the proceeds were divided.

The police have also located a man who overheard a conversation between members of the holdup gang after they had learned that Chiampa held out $1000 on them. This is believed to have furnished the motive for his slaying.

The 11 persons questioned are said to have been present at meetings of the gang before the Friend st. holdup.

Assistant District Attorney Doyle said there was a possibility that one of the men who participated in the dice game in the Friend st. pool room was in on the holdup.

This Reformatory Reforms 'Em; 200 Make Their Mark

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—A man who served five years of his youth in a reformatory for larceny now earns his living installing burglar alarms in banks.

He was one of the 200 unnamed "Grads" who gathered at a reunion at the state reformatory for boys at Rahway, N. J.

Many of the former inmates drove to the institution in their own cars, accompanied by their wives and children. In two minute talks they told of the success they had achieved since leaving the institution where they had been "bad boys" together.

One is now president of the board of education in a New Jersey town.

EDISON SOUNDS WARNING ON STOCK ORGY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11 (INS)—Thomas A. Edison, the world's greatest inventor, in an interview today on the occasion of his 82d birthday, predicted that greater national prosperity will come during President-elect Hoover's administration, but sounded a warning that there is a danger of "loss of confidence and ultimate panic" in the increasing orgy of stock speculation.

Edison also said that the United States should build a navy on a par with Great Britain, and announced that he has found over 1200 plants that may prove capable of producing rubber.

GREETS "FISHERMAN"

President-elect Herbert Hoover arrived at the Edison pier on his yacht, The Sauntere, shortly after the interview was granted. He was warmly welcomed by Mr. Edison, who exclaimed, on his extending his hand:

"Hello, Fisherman."

Mr. Hoover smiled broadly.

Edison, Hoover, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone then posed for cameramen, after which Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Edison and Mrs. Firestone chatted gaily. Then, after Edison had made a brief speech for the Movietone, the party entered the Edison home for a brief rest.

Edison received the 25 correspondents in his private office less than half an hour before Mr. Hoover's yacht docked at the Edison pier. The "electrical wizard" was seated at his desk in his private office.

TOO RIDICULOUS

He was scribbling answers to questions when the reporters trooped in. The questions had been submitted to him in writing in advance. He was attired in black and wore golden-rimmed spectacles. He concentrated on his task, paying no attention to his visitors.

"That's an awful question," he exclaimed. "It's too damned ridiculous to answer." And he crossed the question out. This question was:

"Will the various electric lights now used for medical treatment be utilized for elimination to bring a greater era of health in sections of the country where people are forced to live indoors for a considerable period of the year?"

"What are the dangers, if any, of the increasing stock speculations?" was a question.

"Ultimate panic," Edison wrote swiftly. "Loss of confidence."

ON PROHIBITION

Edison then touched on the prohibition problem. He was asked if it were advisable to appropriate an additional $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement, which the leaders in Congress are trying to force on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"Yes," was Edison's answer.

Edison gave a surprising answer to another question. He was asked to give his formula for a happy life.

"I am not acquainted with anyone who is happy," the old gentleman replied.

"Do you believe that intelligent reading and home study can take the place of the high tension college education?" was another query.

To which he replied: "If the boy has ambition he doesn't need to go to college."

Niece Claims Fraud in $6,000,000 Fight

New York, Feb. 11 (INS)—Charges and counter-charges flared back and forth today in a new battle over the $6,000,000 estate left by William E. Smith, son of Van Rensselaer Smith, partner in Arbuckle & Co., sugar refiners.

Mrs. Beatrice Prevost Trenkman, Smith's niece, filed a new suit, in which she maintains the settlement reached December 24, 1924, by which she accepted $450,000, was obtained through "threats and frauds." She charges conspiracy on the part of Mrs. Clair Smith, widow, and Isaac T. Flatto, her attorney.

Charge $1500 Theft by Forged Checks

Charged with larceny of approximately $1500 by means of forged checks, William Hamilton, 24, of D st., South Boston, was held in $2000 bail today in South Boston court. He pleaded not guilty.

Patrolmen John O'Keefe and James Tyce, who made the arrest, said the checks were passed on the local branch of the Federal National Bank, and that the smallest was $25, the largest $450. The case was continued to Feb. 25.

250 STRIKERS HELD IN 'RIOT'

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—Police arrested 250 striking garment workers in the crowded garment district today as they attempted to carry on mass picketing.

Among those arrested was Charles S. Zimmerman, vice-chairman of the general strike committee. He asserted that 3500 pickets would be on duty before the day was over and predicted at least 2000 arrests would be made.

Five patrol wagons and the police emergency squad were pressed into service to cart the prisoners to the West 20th st. station, where disorderly conduct charges were lodged. The station was jammed to the doors.

The police procedure today was to herd 15 or 20 men and women strikers into a hallway and telephone for a patrol wagon. Enroute the prisoners sang and cheered, and throngs on the sidewalks joined in the clamor.

There were 170 police on duty in the district. The strikers marched two abreast along the streets and at times there were as many as a thousand in line. The police would break the formation, but a few minutes later the procession would reform.

Tenants Flee as Bomb Starts Fire

Jersey City, Feb. 11 (INS)—Fire which spread to 15 tenements, routing a hundred families, was brought under control here early today. The blaze was started by the explosion of a bomb in the fruit store of Dominick Alario on Wallace st., police said.

The flames, whipped by a high wind, gave firemen a stubborn fight. The occupants of the two and three-story tenements were forced to flee in night dress.

500 Seek a Thrill, Get a Gun Battle

New York, Feb. 11 (INS)—Five hundred thrill-seeking movie fans who went to the Tiffany Theater in the Bronx to see and hear "The Terror," got an unexpected run for their money.

An amateur bandit attempted to seize the box office receipts and shot and killed Thomas Darcy, 21. Trapped in the midst of the panic-stricken audience, the bandit shot his way to freedom.

Edison Puffing Up on Cigars From Hub Newsies

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11—A box of cigars, a gift of Boston newsboys, was received here today for Thomas A. Edison, celebrating his 82d birthday with the assistance of President-elect Herbert Hoover and many other dignitaries.

The cigars were purchased with pennies saved by the newsboys, and accompanying them was a message of congratulation and appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Edison, whose life they had studied. It was explained the picture of Edison is the only one that adorns the lecture room in the Burroughs' Newsboys' Foundation in Boston.

Shopping with Priscilla Price

Dearest Anne:

Spring has come—or coming! For Lent descends upon us this week and that means Easter is not far away. All the shops are singing with colors that warble as cheerily as the first red-breasted robin. They have but one chorus—Dress Up! Dress Up! Toss aside your sober, dull winter things and be gay! And so, my Anne, let's take a peek at the

New Spring Hats for the Holiday!

I've promised myself one of the Simon Sisters' hats, Anne—those hats far-famed for their distinguished air. Miss Simons has just returned from New York, with the most ravishing array of Spring styles that I have seen! Oh, they are a-lu-ring! New imported Paris-I-Mere straws (just out this year), Ballibuntls, Bakous and felts, in all the smartest colors and combinations, priced $7.50 and up. You simply MUST see them for yourself. The Simons Sisters, 41 Winter St., have two other branch shops: 1461 Dorchester Ave., Fields Corner; 503 Washington St., Codman Sq., and they are opening a new shop at 545 Columbia Rd., Uphams Corner, this week.

Bring Your Chum

to Rollins', 79 Summer St., this week, where you can buy two extraordinary values in dresses for the price of one—$15.75. Dresses in marvelous prints, georgettes and crepes, etc., in styles that have swank and swagger. You'll love them, Anne—they're so youthful and gay—and of course there are some more reserved styles, too, so you are sure to be satisfied. There are some ensembles (you can't be without one), two-piece frocks and lovely misty georgettes that are so flattering and so serviceable. These dresses are truly remarkable values—and two for the price of one!

Varicose Veins

ruin not only the contour of your legs, but also your disposition—sometimes—Anne, because they are so painful, and your Priscilla is going to boast a bit, because she has made many homes happier by recommending Dr. Saul's silk elastic stocking, Invisible, lightest weight, flesh color, seamless, and with knitted-in heel. They give such relief, reduce swollen ankles, and conceal dark veins. You may order by mail—price $6.75 each. Dr. Saul's fitted-to-measure arch support shoes, priced $8.50, come in all the newest styles for day-time and evening wear. Dr. Saul, an expert chiropodist, also treats corns and callouses, and is located at 110 Tremont St., Room 312.

Lucky Boys

and lucky girls are those whose mothers buy their stockings at the Touraine Glove Co., in the Children's Hosiery Dept. of the Jones store, for here surely are the best values in children's hosiery that I have ever seen. Our youthful styles are sure to be suited here, too, for they have all the most wanted styles and colors in stockings and socks for children of school age—from Kindergarten to Junior High. I saw some perfectly wonderful mercerized cotton stockings in all shades of tan, black, white and gray, for only 35 cents a pair—3 for $1. These stockings are actually 50-cent values. Really there is no place like the Touraine for children's hosiery.

Anne! The Legion Ice Carnival Thursday Night

is going to be a gala event, with all the pomp and glory of the military and the fragrance of Society's fairest buds! Governor Allen, Mayor Nichols, military and naval officials and other well-known public officials will be there to feast their eyes upon the swirling, dashing skaters. For sweet charity's sake Society lends Miss Maribel Vinson, a rising star, and Nathaniel Niles Spencer, Miss Theresa Weld Blanchard, their star-lights already twinkling in the sky of sports. Such Internationally known fancy skaters as Norman Baptie and Gladys Lamb, and Harry Fleming, New England's champion, will thrill you with their feats on the crystal surface. And that isn't all my Anne. There will be a comedy hockey game, costume and fancy skating by Olympic, National and New England skating stars, and 50 beautiful, attractively costumed skating girls, barrel jumping, fox chase, and many other breath-taking features. The ice carnival will open at the Boston Garden, Feb. 14th, amid the flare of striking martial airs, with the thrilling spectacle of the massing of colors from over 200 Massachusetts Legion Posts, assisted by the First Corps Cadets. Tickets may be purchased at Jordan's Travel Bureau, Horace Partridge's, Spaulding's, and the Garden, priced at $2.00, $1.50 and $1.00.

I've Been "Glorified", Anne, and though I admit it modestly, even much, had he seen me when I left the hands of Dorothy Gray's efficient representative, Miss Rhea Macgarvey, who is visiting Filene's this week. This gracious little lady with russet-gold hair and primrose-and-ivory complexion "demonstrated" on your Priscilla all her fine creams and lotions, so that I could tell you more personally their wonder-working qualities, and truly, Anne—they are quite remarkable. They must be, if they could "glorify" me. Double chin spanked away, with the aid, of course, of the proper cream. Tired lines smoothed out, by a special wrinkle cream. Throat bleached to a swanny-whiteness by another special preparation—and then the makeup! A liquid rouge, made of the finest cherry juices—absolutely pure. It gives the most natural color that lasts all day. And you must see the eye shadow! It comes in a small metal container and all-but-disappears in your handbag. I am sure you will find the Dorothy Gray products a great boon to your appearance, and that you will especially enjoy meeting Miss Macgarvey, their beauty expert, who will gladly chat with you about your complexion problems. You will find her in the Toilet Goods Dept., on the street floor of Filene's.

Mr. Ziegfeld would grant as

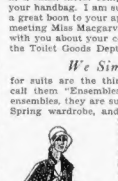
for suits are the thing this Spring—or—perhaps we had better call them "Ensembles"—it's a bit more modern. But suits or ensembles, they are sure to be the most important feature of your Spring wardrobe, and the Spanish Galleries of Chandler & Co. is surely the place to "suit". I took a little jaunt down there today, Anne, just to "see" and was quite overjoyed at the varied selection offered in the misses' Dress Section, and priced only $12.75 and $15. There are some of those "dotty" prints that are so popular—with plain colored silk blouses. Ensembles in solid colors with flavorsome prints for blouses, and georgette ensembles with printed blouses that are ever so new and "dressy". Georgette cocktail dresses, that have all the trickey flared inserts that Fashion demands for Spring, are so practical—for you can keep that precious "date" for dinner and dance right after office hours by simply slipping off the jacket. I was surprised to find some swaggerly tailored tweed ensembles also priced at $15, with skirts that have the new yoke effect, and a silk blouse of contrasting color. The Spanish Galleries are always ready to supply you with dresses for all occasions, from the most conservative to the fullest party frock, in all the important colors.



You Are Invited to a Party, Anne

—not a Valentine party—but a "Fur Coat Party" at Scott Furriers, New England's largest Fur Establishment. This is something entirely new to New England women—an absolute clearance of samples, floor models and slightly used coats at ridiculously low prices—$27.50 and up. This is the first time in history that Scott's announces such an extraordinary event—an event which will save women of limited means hundreds of dollars. In the past Scott's always disposed of these coats to dealers, but this year they have selected the best ones, thoroughly renovated them, so that they look like new, and offer them at a fraction of their original cost. It's a wonderful event, Anne, and you must get there as soon as you can, so that you may have your choice of the best models. Should it be inconvenient for you to pay cash, you may arrange for small weekly or monthly payments while wearing your coat, by joining Scott's Unique Fur Club, the only one in New England. This "fur coat party" is taking place on the third floor of Scott's building, 69 Summer St., and will continue until the coats are sold. They are open every night until 9 o'clock.

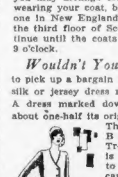
Wouldn't You Like to pick up a bargain in a smart silk or jersey dress right now? A dress marked down to just about one-half its original cost? Then Noyes & Bro., 127 Tremont St., is the place to go, because they have reduced a wonderful group to only $7.95 that includes some individual jerseys in the new tri-color scheme (and jerseys are hard to get right now), silk crepes in lovely colors, stunning silk tweeds and some gorgeous printed georgettes that are becoming so popular. These wonderful values are for both women and misses and come in sizes 14 to 46. They are just what you need for this "in-between" season.



The Valentine Lady

so popular right now, with her soft, wavy hair, and tiny tendrils must surely have had a permanent — no other wave would last so long — and no other wave could stand the moods of our Springtime weathermans. Gilchrist's Beauty Shop, whose permanent waves are lovely deep ripples—not a bit kinky—charge only $8.00, and this price includes shampoo and setting wave. You surely wouldn't think of being without a permanent again, so better take advantage of this low price. Gilchrist's Beauty Shop on the third floor, is quite the most convenient place to drop in for a manicure or haircut.

A Younger, Smarter Beth!

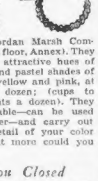
What has made this great change in her? Why—she simply chose the right dress—a dress with chic youthful lines, yet a bit dignified. She paid only $18.50 for it, too, in Hovey's Women's Dress Department on the third floor. You know Hovey's make a specialty of their $16.50 dresses—designed for the modern woman who wants to always look her best. This group includes dashing, colorful prints, as well as the more reserved darker patterns, full length ensembles of flat crepe, and the highly-favored georgettes. They come in sizes 36 to 44—in all the popular new shades and gala prints, and strike an appealing note to the woman who combines fashion with value.

A Colorful Party

for Valentine Day! Just in time for the children's party, or your own Valentine Bridge come the Merrimac paper partipiates in color! Not only are they gaily decorative for your table — but also washable—and can be used for either hot or cold foods. You'll find them in the stationery section of Jordan Marsh Company—Street floor, Annex). They come in five attractive hues of holiday red and pastel shades of blue, green, yellow and pink, at 50 cents a dozen; cups to match 50 cents a dozen). They are unbreakable—can be used over and over—and carry out the pretty detail of your color scheme. What more could you ask?

If You Closed

your eyes and wished for something to make your skin beautiful as a white rose petal—soft, fresh, finished—I'm sure your answer would be La Reine des Creme. the cream prepared by J. Jacquenlier that is sold exclusively by Meyer Jonasson Co. It is a most versatile cream and can be used for almost every purpose. It is a whitener, a softener, an astringent, and a non-greasy powder base. It is priced at $2.50, $1.50, $1, and a trial tube 50 cents. I use it on my hands, too, with Savon La Reine des Cremes, the exquisite soap made from the cream. It gives a luscious lather to the hardest water, and is priced at 50 cents a cake; $1.35 a box.



Valentine Specials!

Just in time for the parties that celebrate our devotion to the patron of love and happiness, come some gay, new dresses to Evelyn's, 8 Winter St. Dresses that have all the new exciting Spring style notes, and are priced only $13.75 and up. Evelyn's is fairly glowing with frocks of all kinds—full length and fingertip ensembles, georgettes, block and marble prints, satin crepes and crisp new taffeta and moire evening gowns. And then, my dear, that $8.95 rack! It's crammed full of the loveliest prints, georgettes and crepes that your shop should be priced much higher. Knockabout and business frocks on the $5.00 rack are unexpected treasures.

And so, my Anne, thus ends my story. But I shall think of you at your Valentine Party—a lovely Queen of Hearts—in your new Spring frock and your softly waved hair and primrose complexion. I'm sure there will be more than one glance of anguished admiration cast upon you. Do let me hear all about it.

Devotedly, your Priscilla

'ONLY A DREAM!' SAYS LAMPY OF CRIMSON SHOT

The declaration by the Harvard Crimson that the Harvard Lampoon, weekly comic magazine, would be homeless and perhaps dismissed, was characterized as "only a dream" today by a Lampoon editor.

At the same time the Lampoon editor was peripherally engaged in running off another edition to "The New Masses" number of the publication, which caused such a sensation on Saturday.

"The New Masses" number poked jibes at the new house plan, for which Edward S. Harkness, Yale alumnus and New York millionaire, has presented $11,000,000.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSED.

Then the Crimson came out with an editorial stating that the mortgage on the Lampoon building had been foreclosed and that a dining hall would be installed in the structure.

In retaliation, the Lampoon furnished each undergraduate on the streets carrying signs which read:

"Don't Be a Scab. The 'scab' has two black lines drawn through it and above it was substituted the strange and original word "Frisbee." The "scab" was plainly readable, however.)

"The Harvard Crimson is unfair to organized labor," a second leaflet on the Harvard read.

EDITORIAL TODAY.

In an editorial today the Crimson refers to "The New Masses" number of the Lampoon as "The Red Book of Revelation," and comments:

"As a work of art this issue deserves first rank in Lampoon annals. In it the grumbled protests, the soured ambitions and the hushed scandals that have been life in dormitory 'bull sessions' for the past decade find classic expression. Adopting the style of communistic propaganda, typified by 'The New Masses,' the Lampoon has done bitter battle with every shoe, real or imagined, of Harvard life."

Winthrop Man Dies of Auto Injuries

Anthony Generie of Station st, Winthrop, died in Somerville Hospital today as a result of injuries suffered in the collision of two automobiles at Mystic ave. and the Northern artery, Somerville, in which five other persons were hurt.

The machine in which Generie was riding was operated by his brother Felix. Dominic Caruso of Sheafe st., Boston, was with them. The other car was operated by Abbott De Rico of Main st., Winthrop, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. DeRoo, as passengers.

'Shy' Youth Advised to 'Grow Up'

By LOUISE RICE
Noted Graphologist

I AM the type of person that people detest until they know me, but in most instances I care not whether they like me or dislike me. I am young, still in my 20s. Perhaps you will class me as blase, but I do not think that is it. Like every young man I like to dance with a pretty girl, but conversation, usually dull, bores me. Why is it that I am bored?

PERPLEXED, Allston.

Your handwriting, "Perplexed," tells me that you are really rather a shy, sensitive and idealistic young man, and that a great deal that perplexes you is merely a result of what you are. You have a mind which is well worth while, but egotism is not too absent! You are rather unusual, yourself, but you have never learned that just ordinary florists have, every one, something of extraordinary interest for those wise enough to see it.

You are really fixing your attention on yourself. My advice to you is to shift the center of attention and to see what the world will look like when you are trying to see what each human being that you approach is really like and what you can do for him or her.

In a word, dear boy, you need to grow up. Just now it is almost that you are still immature, try frankly to enjoy the youthful pleasures which come your way and give your mind time to mature. Don't be so sure, either, that the "pretty girls" to whom you whisper meaningless things the same as any other young man, are not laughing at you!

rhythm. Again and again the student must work with this most baffling element of writing before she or he has a grasp of it. I propose in this article and the one which follows tomorrow to give an illustration or two of rhythm which will help.

Let us say, first of all, that the rhythm in writing may be felt by the person who has a feeling for music or by the artist who has an eye for line. But there are many of us who do not have either music or art in us. For us there is a simple experiment which will be of assistance. Let us take a pen and put a dot exactly under every point of the writing which touches the basic line.

that t

Just look at the first one of the illustrations. The pattern is almost perfectly even. Well, then, we have an even rhythm. The other is in irregular pairs. There we have the irregular rhythm.

The user of the regular rhythm, as shown by the dots, is also a user of an even rhythm in the upper formations of the letters, and the user of the uneven rhythm, as shown by the dots, is also the user of irregular rhythm in the upper formations of the letters.

NOTE: Send sample of your handwriting to Miss Louise Rice, noted graphologist, for analysis. Write your name and complete address on unruled paper, in ink or pencil. To cover clerical costs enclose 10c in silver or stamps. Also enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The individual analysis will be returned to you within a period of one or two weeks. Letters will not be published if sender so requests. Miss Rice has a number of letters which she cannot answer because of wrong or inadequate addresses.

Girl Arrested in "Rasputin" Crusade

New York, Feb 11 (INS)—Arthur Hays, attorney, has been engaged to defend Miss Fanny Ginter, 20-year-old secretary, defendant in a crusade against publication of "Rasputin," a book translated from the German.

John S. Sumner of the Society for the Prevention of Vice brought about Miss Ginter's arrest on a charge of giving out immoral literature.

GOW TO ATTEND REVERE DINNER

Preparations are near completion for the 10th annual dinner of the Revere Chamber of Commerce to be held in Revere City Hall, tomorrow night. The dinner is considered the big event in the Revere social season, but the committee in charge promise this affair will outshine all previous ones.

Col Charles R. Gow, newly appointed postmaster, who is also chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Board, will head a long list of prominent speakers. Mayor Andrew A. Casassa will make an address.

Charles J. Kealos William O'Brien

President William L. O'Brien and his active committee have secured the services of prominent concert artists who will entertain. The program will start with a reception from 6 to 6.30.

William E. Edwards, chairman of the committee, is assisted by Sec. Colin F. Chisholm, Patrick Bruno, Sydney J. Clarke, Clarence E. Chisbee, John Di Pesa, Montmore Eydenberg, Herbert H. Goodwin, Alfred F. Gardella, H. L. Simonton, Charles H. White, and Frank Menard and Charles Kealos.

ST. CATHARINE FOLK REUNITE

Rev. Henry F. Lyons, pastor of St. Catharine's Church, will greet a host of friends and parishioners at the 10th annual parish reunion in Winter Garden Ballroom, City sq., Charlestown, tonight.

The gathering will be in the nature of a Valentine party, with a concert, whist, dancing and entertainment by local artists.

The Coffey sisters, Esther Carmody, the Jordan sisters, John Hayes, James Crowley and Daniel Gill will appear in their specialties. Fr. Lyons has offered prizes to those most proficient in modern and old-time dancing.

Miss Julia E. Sullivan heads a large committee that has been working on the reunion plans. Others include Miss Etta Doherty, Helen Bagley, Agnes Daley, Margaret O'Neill, Mrs. Frank J. Doherty, Mrs. George H. Griffin, Mrs. Eugene C. Driscoll, Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, Bernard S. Mc-Jenkin, Robert E. Lee, George H. Ely, Jeremiah Donohoe, Richard Gorman, John J. McCarthy, Charles S. Sullivan, Jr., and John Monagle.

FLAMES ROUT 3 DORCHESTER FAMILIES

Three families, one the wife and two children of Charles Herity, a member of the Boston fire department, were driven to the street today when fire swept the second floor of a three-story dwelling at 100 Dakota st., Dorchester.

Herity, off duty at the time, sounded the alarm and gave battle to the flames before his brave firefighters arrived on the scene.

The fire started in a china closet in the apartment of Thomas P. Dalton on the second floor. Dalton, his wife and three children were aroused by heavy smoke which filled their bedrooms. They awakened Fireman Herity and made for the street. The first floor is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson and their three children.

The fire is believed to have started from an overheated furnace. It was confined to the second floor and caused a loss of $850. The three families took temporary refuge in the homes of neighbors.

THREE KITTENS RESCUED AT CAFE FIRE

Fighting a fire in the Ravioli restaurant, on Market st., Lynn, firemen chopping away with their axes in the kitchen quit their work when they heard a faint meowing, and their hunt amid the flame and smoke revealed three tiny kittens beneath the cafe's cooking stove.

Wet but safe and sound, the kittens were carried down stairs to the street, and there turned over to a policeman.

The restaurant was located on the second floor of the Cadet Hall building, and a pedestrian gave the fire alarm when he saw flames licking at the inside of the window of the dining room.

A dozen lines of hose furnished the water poured into the cafe and the dinner hall on the third floor. Loss by flame, smoke and water was estimated to have been $500.

SPECIAL JURY EMPANELLED IN DICE CASE

Putnam, Ct., Feb 11 (AP)—A special grand jury was empanelled here today to listen to a presentment by State's Atty. Howard C. Bradford of Windham County bearing upon the slaying of County Detective William E. Jackson in the kitchen of his home in Williamsville on the evening of January 28.

It is for this homicide that Trevor A. Rice, a deputy sheriff and also a former constable of Chaplin, intimate friend of Jackson, has been arrested.

Judge Newell S. Jennings of the superior court, who presided when Gerald Chapman was tried and found guilty of murder of a New Britain policeman, presided and charged the jury.

Many witnesses came here from Willimantic to be heard by the grand jury. Sheriff Charles A. Gates brought Rice from the jail in Brooklyn. The courthouse here was under guard of a sergeant and six city officers and prior to the swearing in of the grand jury no one was admitted to the building unless he or she had been called as a witness or had business with the court or the officers.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

LAMMOT DU PONT, the new president and chairman of General Motors, is the hardest-working member of the family. He is the youngest brother of Pierre S. du Pont, who withdrew from the helm of General Motors in order to concentrate his interest by all his associates.

It was Pierre du Pont who persuaded the partners of the banking syndicate headed by Edgar S. Bloom, president of Western Electric, at a dinner tendered him at Hamburg, where the company is building a plant. Said President Bloom:

"What finally completed to ultimate capacity, our Point Breeze plant will provide employment for about 50,000 people, which will mean, after making due allowance for the members of the families of Western Electric workers not gainfully employed, an addition of 75,000 to the population of your city. We must, however, add to this figure an additional 25,000 to cover the necessary population, of which number it is estimated that 35,000 will be gainfully employed, rather than by the people of Western Electric employes and their families, and also by the needs of the newcomers' group. To put it in another way, our Point Breeze plant at full capacity will furnish a total population of 150,000 people. When that capacity is reached we will have a pay roll of more than $100,000,000 annually, and the annual sales value of our output will be in excess of $175,000,000."

President G. M. Williams, of the Marmon Motor Company, predicts that automobiles of the future will be driven by mirror motors, receiving their power by radio direct from centrally-located transmitting stations. Our correspondent assigned a special wave length. That's a thrilling picture. But a stock market boom depends on the strength of it.

LEAD COMPANY EXPANDING

Evans-Wallower Lead Company has obtained complete control of the Canton process for electrolytic refining of sulphur electrolyte zinc in the principal producing section of the United States through acquisition of the rights formerly held by the Eastern Electrolytic Zinc Company.

Contracts have been executed which will give Evans-Wallower Lead Company exclusive rights in territory and, considerably more favorable terms for their use of the process than the new territory includes all of the United States east of the Mississippi River, the Imperial district, the Southwest and practically all of the Western States. In addition to acquiring the exclusive rights for the new process to recover lead from electrolytic zinc plant residues.

The superior zinc produced under the Tainton process by the Electrolytic Zinc Company of Anaconda and Sullivan Mining Company has recently made a great stir in metal circles, the zinc being obtainable at a premium of $5 over the price of ordinary zinc, which is also in excess of the premium commanded by any other graded zinc heretofore produced.

As a result of the negotiations the company has also put itself in a position to undertake the other manufacturing companies for production under the Tainton patents of lower grade ores. Sufficient of the lower grades are expected to be made available to supply manufacturers under the Tainton process can be effected at a much lower cost than by the usual retort smelter methods.

Five new directors will be added to the board of the Evans-Wallower Lead Company as a result of its expansion program. They are C. C. Tainton, inventor of the Tainton process; Victor Hakowsky, former president of Electrolytic Zinc Company; William McLellan, vice-president of Stone & Webster Engineering Company; William B. Given, American Brake Shoe & Foundry Company, and William Lloyd Smith of the law firm of Cotton & Franklin.

Fiske Off Committee of Proposed Bank

A. F. C. Fiske, second vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., announces he has severed all connection with the organization committee of the proposed National Union Bank & Trust Co. He said that the demands upon his time as an executive officer of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and his other interests precluded his giving sufficient attention to the organization of the proposed bank.

RALLY STAGED IN WALL ST. DEALINGS

By W. S. COUSINS

New York, Feb. 11—After an irregular opening, in which prices of the industrial favorites spread from a 9-point loss to a 2-point gain, the stock market rallied to a moderate rally today.

Sandwiched in between a double and a single holiday, with an 8 per cent renewal call rate, to start the week, and a special meeting of the Reserve Bank heads called to consider credit problems after the close of the market, it was hardly safe to attract very much outside buying of speculative stocks.

BIG ISSUES UP.

News of the formation of powerful bull pools and cliques to "support the market" until it was possible to see daylight through the whole banking-credit situation helped to hold matters in check.

There was no evidence of stocks being dumped on the market.

Sales in the first half-hour were 400,000 and eleven o'clock prices showed recoveries of from 2 to 10 points in the market leaders.

Radio sold up at 262, against last Friday's close at 252; General Electric at 297, and Steel at 175, each baker up over 2; U. S. Steel up 1¼; Anaconda Copper up 2½ and Westinghouse up 2¾.

REDISCOUNT CHANGE

The 8 per cent money rate was a disappointment to the bulls, but the money market on an unsettled day preceding a holiday is an uncertain quantity and Wall Street heard that the European lenders were calling their money home.

As to the New York Reserve Bank, there was little prospect of a higher rediscount to be named at the meeting today, according to the best Wall St. view, for the reason that the bears were not as jaunty in their "campaigning" for lower prices, but on the other hand, their tracks were plainly seen in covering stocks at the opening of the market.

Higher prices were quoted in the second hour for a number of the better grade of utility stocks. Standard Gas & Electric led the way. Commonwealth Edison and American sold higher. The Standard Oils sold up fractionally on the buying demand.

The fresh selling Chrysler Motor is based chiefly on rumors of an unfavorable fourth-quarter earnings report.

New York Curb Has Mixed Tone in List

New York, Feb. 11 (INS)—The Curb market today was irregular. Electric Investors advanced 2 to 10¼, Cities Service 1¾, Gulf States gained 1¾ to 54½. Noranda Mines declined ¾ to 60¾. Wire Wheel showed a 1-point decline at 60. Rochester Central Power lost ¾ at 44¾. Other prices: Ford Ltd., 16¾; Fox, Class A, 175¾, off ¾; Inter. Pet., 54, up ½.

U. S. Shows Gain on Gold Movements

Gold movements for week ended February 6 totaled $1,110,000, of which $1,000,000 came from Canada and $140,000 chiefly from Latin-American countries. Exports were $152,000, of which $52,000 went to Germany and $100,000 to Venezuela.

Lead Price Put Up

New York, Feb. 11 (AP)—The American Smelting & Refining Co. today advanced the price of lead from 6.75 to 6.85 cents a pound.

Bootleg Loans Weaken Reserve Sway in Money

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

WITH the peak seasonal business and agricultural needs well out of the way, the Federal Reserve authorities have renewed their prolonged tussle with Wall Street stock market bulls.

The new application of the brakes on the wheels of speculation follows more than half a year of a virtual hands-off policy. After the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate had been boosted to 5 per cent the Federal Reserve was content to remain neutral towards the money market last summer, and in the autumn, when agricultural and commercial needs were rising, encouraged the use by member banks of $500,000,000 additional Federal Reserve credit, which, incidentally, began to be rapidly reduced since the turn of the year.

In the current slackened period in commercial and agricultural needs, the Federal Reserve feels free to lecture speculators concerning the dangers of the excessive use of credit. There is much that is pertinent in what the central banking authorities have to say about the potential hazards in the use of virtual bank-roll, but they apparently neglect to emphasize that half of the total of brokers' loans are not covered by the borrowing of capital supplied by others—the non-banking, or so-called bootleg lenders. This colossal aggregation of outlaw lending constitutes a leak in the system of public regulation of banking, and until this leak is plugged it may tend to promote the freedom of the stock market from the discretion even by the Federal Reserve.

Even now the Federal Reserve is far from a free agent in its dramatic clash with those who believe that the present stock market price is justified and may prosperously go still higher. Whereas last autumn the Federal Reserve was restrained by consideration of the needs of domestic business and agriculture, it is now influenced by a regard for the effect of disciplinary action on the international financial market. Of course, counsel by Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, avowedly came to this country for the purpose of paying a courtesy visit to George L. Harrison, new governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. But in reality he came over to give the British viewpoint on the question of the necessity for further interest rate rises at this center.

A further rise in the rediscount rate in New York above the present 5 per cent would tend to accelerate the outflow of gold from London, which has already alarmed the Bank of England. In spite of the newer fashion among economists to discount the value of huge gold hoards, the central banks in Paris, Berlin and even in sophisticated London are taking a distinctly nationalistic view of gold holdings, and are ambitious to keep their funds as huge as is feasible.

Accordingly the Bank of England, in accordance with the Scottish phat-war financial policy, again sacrifices current business to its conception of financial requirements, and boosts the discount rate of the Bank of England above that of the New York bank for the first time in nearly a year. The rise in the London rate from 4½ to 5½ per cent will unquestionably stop the gold flow to New York, if the New York bank will leave its rate at 5 per cent.

Evidently the Federal Reserve authorities, who have been actively co-operating with European banks to establish financial stabilization, evince a desire to be accommodating. The newest warning against excessive use of credit for speculative purposes is intended as a moral equivalent of a rediscount rate rise. It is served to hold about a check in the expansion of Wall Street loans, the Federal Reserve will have accomplished its main objective without the disadvantage of making credit still dearer for domestic business and agriculture. Of course, if loan expansion remains unbridled for an extended period, the authorities have the go'den egg may be killed through a check in prosperity-selling item high money. Evidently even the optimistic Treasury officials view with alarm the possible chilling effects on business of still dearer credit. The lag between the rise in interest rates and trade reaction has induced superficial observers to disregard the possibility of such an occurrence.

From a practical standpoint, a change in rediscount rates by the Federal Reserve would not be of major importance, for the system, in its recent statement, has shown its hand and indicated its lack of sympathy with the tendency to credit inflation in the stock market. In these days of widespread amateur participation in speculation, it may be that such a clear-cut policy of policy will be better understood than subtle changes in the discount rate, or in earmarking of gold. The public must again choose between the leadership of bull tipsters and responsible banking lenders. There has been ample warning that over-extended speculation in these circumstances is unusually hazardous.

WALL STREET VIEWS

Satisfying the Reserve

MOST disconcerting feature of the past few days has been the weakness displayed by stocks sponsored by the strongest banking group in the country. This has been repeatedly emphasized as indicating that the powerful private banking interests are, for the time being, not at all disposed actively with the Federal Reserve authorities to check the speculation in stocks. It also confirms recent reports here that this leading group has been liquidating stocks steadily although not during them overboard. The attitude of the more well-to-do circles that the Federal Reserve now holds a more secure grip on the nation's banking power than it has enjoyed since it instigated the present market a few years ago by forcing money rates down.

The Heaviest Selling

Thus far, "wash sales and dogs" have not displayed exceptional weakness, but the worst suffering has occurred when such issues begin to slip.

Where Blows Are Aimed

Argument has always been advanced here that the aggregate of "brokerage loans," as disclosed each week and each month, in no degree represent the real total of borrowings on securities. It is now officially admitted in Federal Reserve circles that the chief source of loans is over the volume of stock loans secured by individuals, primarily, direct from banks. The aggregate of these direct loans, which do not figure in the published "brokers' loan" totals, probably exceeds the total of the published item, so that the grand total of all stock loans may exceed $12,000,000,000 or $13,000,000,000. To a great extent the direct-from-bank loans are the account of amateurs and the newer class of speculators.

Proving Profitable

Policy advocated persistently of "remaining on the sidelines" remains the most profitable under current circumstances.

Loans Not Needed

It is in periods of distress selling that the well-managed and powerful investment trusts take advantage of the situation. The present condition is particularly welcome to enterprises such as American International which have just received tremendous new sums of money. American International's $25,000,000 new capital will materially strengthen its position, in addition to which it possesses the substantial other free resources, inasmuch as it is understood that it took the bulk of recently before the bad break.

PAT McCARTHY TO BOX WITH BOSTON JACK

By JACK CONWAY

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 11—Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling have tossed their golf clubs and bathing suits aside and replaced them by ring togs.

Jack Conway

SOUTH MAY BE FAIR

I believe those who figure Sharkey will get unfair advantage are wrong. The South has given boxers a great welcome. He has received even greater ovations than those accorded to Stribling.

There are also talk and talk of Northern people here coming to attend the fight and it is only natural they will be backing Sharkey.

Johnny Buckley, representing Sharkey and Jack Dempsey, acting for the Madison Square Garden Corporation, have been unable to agree upon a referee. As a result the selection of the third man in the ring will be made by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission.

Sharkey's contract called for the Massachusetts Commission to name the referee in the event Buckley and the Madison Square Garden Corporation could not come to terms on the matter.

The selection of referee will probably be made from the list of Massachusetts officials. Johnny Martin, Johnny Brassill, Jack Sheehan and Joe O'Connor have been in charge of most of the big bouts in Massachusetts. They are all capable referees and have national standing.

WRITES COMMISSION

Dempsey has already forwarded a copy of Sharkey's contract to the Massachusetts Commission and has requested the assistance of the Bay State body in naming the referee.

Dempsey and Pa Stribling have full confidence in the ability of the Massachusetts commission to pick the right man for the job.

William A. Carey, vice-president of Madison Square Garden Corporation who has charge of the financial arrangements for the bout, reports the advance sale has topped $215,000 and that the gate will pass $500,000. This means the show will be a financial success.

The arena at Flamingo Park is going up rapidly and will be ready in time for the show. Present plans call for seats for 42,000.

CRANKY ARCHES

Arches that need support have every right in the world to regard "any old arch support" with haughty displeasure. For there are three main types of arch—low, medium or high, and unless the arch support corresponds exactly in height it is worthless.

Here at the Coward Stores you will find low, medium, or high arch support. Your arches will be scientifically fitted to whatever type shoe they demand . . . they will feel perfectly wedded to their new support and will be happy ever after!

A Staggering Record

Members of the exclusive Albuquerque, New Mexico, Walking Club who hiked all the way to the National Capital to cheer Frisby.

WASHINGTON—Five footsore days and six endless nights! This is the staggering record already attained by Congressman Frisby in his non-stop walking test.

"Not fatigued in the least!" was Frisby's message to the world as he turned a cartwheel and hurried around a corner late last night.

Despite Mr. Frisby's unblemished reputation, there are ugly rumors abroad that he has not been sincere with his public.

In fact, one report has it that Frisby walks until the streets are deserted, and then dodges into a rooming house across the railroad tracks.

One street vendor complained that Frisby was refueling himself by snatching peanuts.

Asked to explain these attacks, Frisby said—

"For 11 years I have stood like a rock. I refuse to dignify aspersions upon my character with a reply until tomorrow, when I will consult my attorney. I will then issue a formal reply which will be a sizzler, as Frisby has no ax to grind!"

BAER FACTS

THE fight for the $24,000,000 prohibition fund is one of the fiercest combats in the history of civilized antagonism.

It seems that Secretary Andy Mellon is opposed to spending that much money in a five-and-ten-cent political store.

We interviewed Secretary Andy Mellon yesterday over a national hookup of 48 service boards.

He is a very sociable old gentleman in an unguarded moment.

His remarks on prohibition are worth recording for the benefit of future students of the label industry.

"I have been in public life many years, man and boy. And even the boy was a Republican.

"I have studied the prohibition question from every angle except looking through a funnel.

"And I want to state that even $24,000,000 will not make a sun parlor out of a damp cellar."

Here the secretary paused to allow the non-partisan cliques of lobbyists to become agreeably subnormal.

"I am running the United States treasury. And there is no night bell on the front door.

"I intend to keep the books. And red ink is not my idea of refreshments."

Andy stopped while the telautograph and the dictaphones purred away like contented cats on a rug made of mouse skins.

"Yes, sir, my lad, the watchdog of the treasury is a water spaniel now."

Truer words were never spoken by man or beast.

We have reached a crucial spark in our nation's system of fireless cooking.

If the prohibitionists do not get that $24,000,000, the country is liable to go dry.

The struggle is about even. But expensive. For every saloon closed, the prohibs open up a new office.

Forty-five Democrats and 194 Republicans have voted against the $24,000,000 fund.

Which makes a total of 194 Republicans.

The next bill before the House will be a request for $56,000,000 worth of blotting paper to stuff up Niagara Falls.

THE LOVE AFFAIRS OF FREDEGUNDE

By COZETTE DOUGLASS.

A STORY of primitive passions and ambitions is the tale of the Frankish queen and her husband, Chilperic.

Fredegunde was of humble origin, but like so many others who in after years attained high fame, was the possessor of great beauty. She was in the service of the first wife of Chilperic, the Queen Anso were, and probably it was while serving in this menial capacity that she attracted the king's attention. At any rate, the story goes that she obtained a strong influence over the king, probably using the age-old lure of beauty to obtain her ambition. She plotted against the woman to whom she had sworn faithfulness, and the king finally was induced to confine his wife in a convent.

Fredegunde probably thought that she would then be placed on the throne, but instead the king married Galswinthia, the sister of Brunhilde. Thwarted in her desires, Fredegunde determined that she would be queen and consequently some time later Galswinthia was found murdered in her bed. Fredegunde then married the king.

As a final step in this sordid romance, Fredegunde, in order to make sure of the succession to the throne of her own son, Clotaire, assassinated her stepsons and poisoned their mother, Audovere.

Ambition and love! How closely they are associated but how frequently they are misdirected. Love which masquerades as a tender thing to hide a blackness of heart that stops at nothing, is not true love. But the romances which spring from it have made history.

STORY TRASH 20 YEARS AGO, IS GOOD FILM

By LEO GAFFNEY

George Bancroft and Rowland V. Lee, star and director respectively of "The Wolf of Wall Street," now talkie at the Olympia and Fenway, may have had a look at the script before starting in work on it and then taken refuge in a good bar-hawk apiece, then, purely in self-defense. Or, maybe, decided to show the critics they have got really possible stuff to make a talkie fit for from a story that was good 20 years ago. The yarn, "written especially for the screen," was put together by one of Paramount's best staff and is a melodramatic treatment of the one about the terrible leader who, would rule the world in his fist. Bingo is ruthlessly away in order to drag down a faithless wife and a double-crossing business partner.

Geo. Bancroft

FLAWLESS ACTING

But the superlative directing and flawless acting of Bancroft, Lee and their cast in the old, old story with such enthusiasm that the picture is not only interesting, but a graduation that ranks with "Interference" as a work of the speak-ing screen.

With talking speed Mr. Lee keeps the movie going. He opens on a swirling, noisy floor of the New York Stock Exchange in the interest of a Paris cafe dancer. When he wants it, he lets the camera tell the story rather than the dialogue. Mr. Lee's right there in the background. He knows how to use it. He knows when to let sound or noise in the film is neglected.

As for Vilma Banky, her part in the proceedings interests no good cat, be-cause it does not interest her. It is true that she does not look ill-at-ease and some of them are pretty tough in the part, but she is not herself. She is not convincing. No fan knows it but Vilma's the Russian actress who is Greta Garbo's successor. Where Garbo's personality and woman-hood are unmistakable, Vilma's charm is unmistakable to make the character believable and interesting. Luckily, the scenario was written for her limited accent and most of the time she refrains from speaking. There is also an interpolation of song by Miss Banky.

DOES ITSELF PROUD

For this picture alone must there are Nanon Carroll and Arthur Pusey. Miss Carroll is mostly appearing in Paris, but Pusey is in Hollywood making more movies. Both are specialists in character parts and should be more frequently seen. There is also an interpolation of song by Miss Banky.

"THE BARKER" BITES

STRONG BUT NOT SILENT

In "The Barker," now at the Scollay, Milton Sills threatens Dorothy Mackaill in a manner unbecoming a gentleman. But a carnival tout is not supposed to be overly polite. The film is a talker.

'Twin Beds' Will Be Filmed as Talkie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11—In its day "Twin Beds" was considered one of the funniest farces on the stage. Ideas of comedy have changed since Margaret Mayo wrote this play, also ideas of naughtiness. But the movies have a way of salvaging their own spirits of individual nonsense. So when Al Santell picks up the megaphone to direct "Twin Beds," he will probably find a talkie with some pep and original sequences.

"Twin Beds" has many of its brother and sister plays, was made in the films some time ago, but what matter that now that the talkies are here, bringing back old plays for new?

Jack Mulhall, as rumor says, will play the lead and since Dorothy Mackaill has been appearing with him in so many films, it seems likely she will be the leading lady, although the only definite statement so far was given out at First National is that Al Santell will direct and that "Twin Beds" is the name of the picture.

I HAVE just finished reading Virginia Bradford's love life in one of the current fan magazines. She is a movie girl, is this Virginia, so tell her interested readers. And pro-fessionally she has had some good advice from Cedric Belfrage, magazine writer, who says that to be successful in the public and what goes with it. At any rate this story does not so much discuss Miss Bradford's love life as her screen life. We are more interested in hearing that she has just signed a contract with Tiffany-Stahl to play opposite Jack E. Brown in "The Midnight Flower." Miss Bradford played in "All of the Show" over one of the two have been asking when they would see her again, and here is one good picture in this busi-ness to make friends, that's the beauty of the show. Jack E. Brown has made friends and plenty of them. "The Midnight Flower" is by Fanny Hurst and will be directed by Albert Ray. It's a talkie, one of them are these days.

A FEW days ago we remarked something in passing that Charlie Chaplin was going to do the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot. Camille arranged a contract with Chaplin whereby he would make a picture for them, and it was then announced that the photoplay-wright had not yet come into pos-session of the story. Well, it seems that he has now, and Camille has begun work on it. Weeks to make, but worth while. Camille is a great picture.

Walter Huston, husband of Mary Nolan, Miss Nolan, who used to be Mrs. Huston, is in Hollywood, accord-ing to Variety, waiting for Universal to get enough to go to South Africa for "Trader Horn." The picture will be filmed, as it is, in South Africa for Camilla Horn. Mr. Camilla Horn don't know Bix Beiderbecke, as in Canada on business, en route to Ger-many.

LENOX QUARTET IN CONCERT AT LIBRARY

By MOSES SMITH

In music as in life, it is not an uncommon circumstance that the well-meant philanthropy goes wrong—that the very people for whom the benefit is intended fail by avoid themselves of it. We are glad to report that this was not the case at the concert of the Lenox String Quartet in the Public Library last night.

The concert, which was one of a series now given annually at the library with admission free, was played to an audience that crowded every available square in the hall. Nominally under the auspices of the Congressional Library music affairs, which some of the greatest string quartets in the world have played, are actually under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, patron ex traordinary of music.

In a measure the attendance at these concerts is a denial of the often-sung anthem in which I have myself occasionally joined: that there is little public demand for chamber music in Boston. Perhaps previous failures have been due less to the unwillingness of the public than to ineffective and poor press managerial efforts, or "exploitation" as the trade calls them.

The program for last evening consisted of a first quartet by Kodaly, Hungarian modernist composer; Purcell's Terzetto for two violins and viola, and Beethoven's Student Quartet in D, Opus 18, No. 3. When this Kodaly quartet was first played here in Boston in 1914 the music was considered "fiercest and most frightful," especially in the first two movements. Although our ears are now attuned to dissonances far more horrible than those employed here, I find the criticism still in point. The musical substance, if any, is certainly fleeting.

The Terzetto (of which the finale was not played for some reason) is lighter in character, agreeable without being scholarly. More gallant as were the efforts of the players last night, it was Beethoven's early work which finally aroused this listener from lethargy. Here was a master with something to say.

EXPERT URGES 'DEVIL'S ISLE' FOR U. S.

New York, Feb. 11—An "American Devil's Island," where habitual criminals would be confined on an island similar to those maintained by other countries, was suggested by John C. Maher, chairman of the New York city parole commission.

The island would be under control of the federal government but would be open to the long term prisoners of all states.

The prisoners would have no communication with the world either by telephone, cable or letter but would be given all possible freedom on the island itself.

COST HIGH

The thought behind his plan, he said, was of removing from law-abiding society those who are antisocial and who, now in jail, do not reform so as to make themselves worthy of membership in a law-abiding state.

The initial cost would be high, he said, but he believed the colony eventually would become self-supporting and "whatever the cost, it certainly would mean the saving of a great deal of money now expended in maintaining such a vast number of prisoners all over the country, where overhead alone runs into a huge sum."

UNDER SUPERVISION

On his "Criminal Island Republic" Commissioner Maher would have the prisoners live more as they would in civil life with their own officers and organization.

They, of course, would be under careful supervision of wardens and keepers. Careful record would be kept of the prisoners and if the offender showed by years of good behavior in the prison colony that he was worthy to return he should be allowed to come back to the State that had "deported him."

Alice McEnaney of the Wamega Club, is helping her sister entertainers with plans for their first dancing party at the Music Box tonight.

Watertown K. C. Give Play Tonight

Watertown council, Knights of Columbus, will present "Nothing But the Truth" tonight at the New Arlington House as its annual dramatic production. In the company will be Lillian Reifenstein, Eleanor McBreen, Veronica Hoey, Esther Boyce, Ethel Kelm, Arlene McGourty, Dr. James C. Donohue, Albert Colligan, Joseph F. Quinlan, James J. Carroll and Felix A. Leonard.

BISHOP HAILS 'LOST SHEEP'

Providence, R. I., Feb. 11 (AP)—Eighteen French Canadians and 56 of the 82 French Americans who last year were excommunicated with him from the Roman Catholic Church for their combined legal action against Bishop Hickey of the Providence diocese, have agreed to "repent" and seek reinstatement in the church.

Rt. Rev. William A. Hickey, bishop of Providence, when he learned of the reported action of the excommunicated members of the several parishes, said that the news was the "greatest consolation that I have had since the unfortunate movement was launched."

Daignault remained silent when he was charged with insincerity by more than a dozen of those at their meeting.

Some discussion was said to have centered on a report that Daignault had last Wednesday been told at his return to the church was the only thing that would prevent his being ousted from his parish post as president of the Canado-American Society.

WAMEGA GIRLS DANCE TONIGHT

An even dozen of pretty Cambridge, Somerville and Newton girls known as the Wamega Club will conduct their first dancing party of the season at the Music Box tonight.

The club members are Alice Mc-

An Expert Speaks

Newspaper Advertising the Quickest, Cheapest and Most Effective Means of Reaching the People

Print says things radio cannot.

An advertiser cannot use radio to educate listeners to utilize his product to the extent he can in print.

In a recently published book, "Advertising by Radio," these views are expressed by two close students of broadcasting development, Orrin Dunlap, Jr., radio editor of the New York Times, author of the book, and Sir Charles Higham, prominent English advertising authority, whom Mr. Dunlap quotes.

"Wireless may accomplish wonders," says the latter, "but I believe the modern newspaper and periodical will remain, as it is, the quickest, cheapest and most effective means of reaching the people. No other means has its power."

"It would be folly for an advertiser to describe the shape, style and size of his product over the air," writes Mr. Dunlap.

"It would be unwise to inform listeners about a product's merits or price; he cannot stimulate or persuade people to buy. All he can do on the radio without defeating his own purpose is to entertain.

"Print and salesmen must do the rest. They must educate, assert, iterate, inform, stimulate and persuade.

"The same man or woman who lingers long over a newspaper or magazine is instantly offended if the loudspeaker starts telling where to buy and what. A twirl of the dial and the listener goes elsewhere."

Evidently Mr. Dunlap combines an intimate acquaintance with psychology—which must be the possession of every advertising man and everybody who deals successfully with his fellowmen—with his knowledge of radio matters.

Desire to Be Praised

Most Useful Desire in Man's Makeup

A ONE-LEGGED MAN CLIMBS GREAT MOUNTAINS

Here, at the upper corner at right, you see Mr. Geoffrey Winthrop Young, on the peak of the Weisshorn, one of the most difficult of peaks in the Alps.

A little later the same man, using an artificial leg to take the place of one lost in the war, climbed the Matterhorn by moonlight, a feat most remarkable.

Those who have not done any Alpine climbing, scaling icy cliffs, cutting holes in ice and snow for a foothold, can hardly imagine what it means for a man, crippled by the loss of a leg, to ascend such dangerous peaks.

Much credit must be given to his guides, one probably going ahead, the other behind, the three men united by one rope, so that if one slipped the other two could hold him.

But the one-legged man himself deserves credit for his courage, based, probably, although he may not have realized it, on the desire to be praised.

In children, we foolishly call the natural, useful desire for praise, "showing off." Don't discourage your "show-off" child. What he really "shows off" is the fact that he WANTS TO DO SOMETHING. The praise of others is the reward of the greatest deeds on earth, outside of science, perhaps, in which men often work regardless of praise or credit, content to know that the work has been DONE.

The desire to be praised makes a savage risk his life to kill a lion. He is praised, and they give him as many as he wants of the fattest wives. His deed saves the lives of other women and of children.

The desire to be praised is back of endless achievements, each of which has been useful to the world.

The greatest natural desire is the desire to KEEP ALIVE, called "instinct of self-preservation."

But among men of the best kind, AMBITION, the desire for success and praise, outweighs all else, even the desire to preserve life.

Sun Dial Skirts

Out of Chicago, aptly enough, comes a suggestion for the solution of the moot problem of the proper length of skirts. Henry Rheinhardt, chairman of the Associated Dress Industries, states that dresses should be lengthened and shortened in accordance with the clock. At noon, they should be knee high, he says, and as the shadows lengthen the frocks should follow suit, so that evening dresses would be as long as in the days of our grandmothers.

Is this a sensible compromise, adaptable to all styles? Women would be given fashionable authority to change their frocks hourly—which many of them do now, without authority—and the advocates both of long and short skirts would have their fling, so to speak. On only one point is Mr. Rheinhardt's system somewhat vague. Beginning at noon, skirts are worn to the knees, but what is the limit in the forenoon?

Day by Day Abroad

O.O. McINTYRE

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 11—Morning on the sun-dappled Terrace of Monte Carlo with the trembling tinted blue of the Mediterranean in the offing has the giddy headiness of a before breakfast cocktail. The French express the idea with their "Oo, la, la!" The most sedate turn pagan to whoop and dance over life.

The mood is playful; indeed it is kittenish. Sitting at an outdoor table this morning a voice behind me cried: "Hands up!" After making a sheepish movement with my hands, which quickly changed to a fevered smoothing of my hair, I turned to see a dignified gentleman who was a fellow passenger crossing from America.

He was not only aloof aboard ship but in the compartment we occupied on the way to Paris. Yet at Monte Carlo he had become a jocose back-slapper, calling me by name and inviting me to join him in a snifter. I merely uncorked my nastiest frown and let him have it clear up to here. I prefer a high hat to a back slap anyway.

This some climatic and scenic wallop offsets the depression of heavy losses at the gaming table here. People lose staggering sums and still feel exhilarated. But Monte Carlo's glitter reminds me of the phosphorescent glow of a beautiful and rotting fish. The veins of Monaco run cold with ice water.

Dotting various tables were Elsie Janis and her mother, Allatair Mackintosh, Maybelle Corey Gilman, Fritz Kreisler and, of course, that ever present delineator of international intrigue E. Phillips Oppenheim, the novelist. It is the straight season on the French Riviera, but colorful just the same.

At luncheon I met Monsieur Chiappe, the energetic and spectacular Prefect of Police of Paris—incognito for a day's relief from crook hunting. He is a Corsican, an idealist and a determined protector of middle classes. Just now he is warring on peep show guides and gigolos of Paris. He suggests the cricket.

Monte Carlo continues to wax expensive. There is a Palm Beach lilt to cafe and hotel tariffs. Various cocktails have advanced one franc fifty over last year. The head porter at the Hotel de Paris explained it frankly with: "We want to make it impossible for all save the very rich." And I didn't care for the sharp look he gave me and my dog.

AN American lady stepped from a motor at her Monte Carlo hotel this afternoon in semi-hysterics. She had been driving along the famous Corniche rd. and alighted for a closer view of a peaceful little lake a short distance away. Accompanying her was a faithful and valuable Scotch terrier. She tossed a stick into the water for the dog to retrieve and was horrified to see a swan glide up, clutch the animal in its bill alone and hold it under water until it drowned. She learned from a game keeper this was the fate of almost every dog that approached swans in water. Add permanent dislikes—swans.

MONTE CARLO'S dream of gold is an invincible distraction but there are other pleasant diversions. Such as fishing, trap shooting, horseback riding, motoring, tennis, golf and listening to Lese people at adjoining tables who try to create a worldliness for your benefit. The ordinary fibber becomes a grandiose liar at Monte Carlo. I have spoken twice carelessly of an imaginary yacht. But 99 per cent of the visitors come here solely to do business of coining a original phrase—woo the goddess of chance. They seem to be straining, like hounds on leashes, until the establishments are thrown open for the day.

THERE is nothing, despite his suave and imperturbable manner, quite so pathetic to me as a gambling casino croupier. His employers make distrust of him so humiliatingly obvious. Every pocket in his evening clothes is tightly sewed up with thread that is painfully discernible. After he finishes for the day, he must strip and walk through an alley of inspectors to reach his going home attire. He has no chance to steal and is paid a miserable wage. But he does see life!

MONTE CARLO is stimulating and one is clutched by its beauty for a day, but unless one is thrilled by gambling it seems long enough. It is no place for a book. Interviews on its great splendor are sordid splotches of ugliness and despairing misery. Last night, for instance, all Xavier Cugat knows there were two attempts—one successful—at suicide over gaming losses. But the rest of the world will never know it. And one cannot forget those ancient crones with claw-like fingers who sit at small play tables, pining fiery brandy to sustain their courage. What a terrible old age!

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND.

THE average man can never remember just what it was he said that gave a woman the right to go ahead and marry him.

What keeps this old world going 'round is woman's undying faith that love will last, in the face of her knowledge that nothing else ever does.

The supreme feminine art consists in flattering a man just enough to make him think that he could be happy with you—and not enough to make him think that you couldn't be happy without HIM.

* * *

No really satisfactory way has ever been discovered to warm over a broiled steak, a cold baked potato or a cooled romance.

Even when a husband talks only in golf, radio or moonshine, it is sort of comforting to have something alive sitting around the house evenings.

There are still men in this innocent world who believe that the liquor with the fancy label is "just off the boat," and women who believe that the lover with the fancy line will "stay put, THIS time."

* * *

The woman who appeals to a man's vanity may intrigue him; the woman who appeals to his senses may allure him; but it's the woman who appeals to his imagination that gets him.

The man who plunges recklessly into a love affair is usually the first to swim out beyond the breakers where you can't catch him.

None so blind as those who are looking at another woman.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THAT little gate I glimpsed today, why did it lead my thoughts astray by winding lanes I used to know, down nappy ways I used to go? A moment, as the train sped on, white palings flashed and then were gone; a picket gate between square posts swung open to admit lost hosts! Lost hosts of memories trooping through that little gate like one I knew so long ago, so far away; they all came back to me today. Childhood and youth and sunlit hours, beyond a garden gate, gray flowers that nodded over palings white, came back and brought the old delight. That little gate has swung so wide vague memories enter, like a tide that bears me back, through years and miles, to where a vanished garden smiles!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVERY now and then I get stuck on myself.

Not that I ever exactly hate myself, but there are periods when I am particularly gummed up with Elsie.

Now, there are people who can get a lot of kick out of being stuck on themselves. They think what great guys they are and what wonderful things they have done, and they go around broadcasting their findings. They must be pests to everyone else, but they certainly enjoy themselves.

If you can get stuck-on-yourself like that you're playing in luck, but such is not my fortunate habit.

When I get stuck on myself it's on the reverse.

I spend all my time thinking about myself, to be sure, but instead of thinking what a humdinger I am I think what a flop I've turned out to be, and how God and the whole human race are picking on me.

Instead of being glad about myself I spend hours and hours being sorry for myself.

And it doesn't need any great personal tragedy to start me going.

When I decide to throw a fit spell of melancholia any old gloom will do. The darndest trifles.

I get sorry because I ought to go to the dentist and haven't, just as if I had the only tooth on earth.

I get sorry because my bureau drawers aren't tidy, as if the Devil invented bureau drawers just for me!

I bust out into big, wet tears because someone did me dirt when I was going on eight.

And when I can't cry any more over that I get to thinking how lonely and miserable I'm going to be when I'm 80 and all my fake friends have deserted me.

In short I get sore at everything under the blue heaven and with each second I sink deeper into the mire.

"But I thought you were talking about being stuck on yourself," you say. "That's self pity— that isn't being stuck on yourself——"

Yes it is, dearie!

Self pity is the most cussed and complete form of being stuck-on-yourself.

It doesn't matter whether you're making whoopee over yourself—

Or weeping for yourself—

In either case you're concentrating on your SELF and letting the rest of the world go hang.

And perhaps if that fact were more generally understood a lot of these self-pity artists would be ostracized.

For what self-pity-ers need is not sympathy or comfort or assistance.

What they need is a good swift kick.

I know. For that's what I need right now.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them the rest of us could not succeed. —Clemens.

Depend upon it a lucky guess is never merely luck—there is always some talent in it. —Austen.

Wealth lost, something lost; honor lost, much lost; courage lost, all lost. —Goethe.

Never is anything more unjust than an ignorant man, who thinks he has done properly unless he himself has done it. —Terence.

There is a chord in every heart that has a sigh in it if touched aright. —Ouida.

The ruin of most men dates from some idle moment. —Hillard.

Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure that there is one rascal less in the world. —Carlyle.

I do not think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday. —Lincoln.

We are usually more inclined to evil speaking through vanity than through malice. —La Rochefoucauld.

Men, even when alone, lighten their labor by song, however rude it may be. —Quintilian.

The man who trusts men will make fewer mistakes than he who distrusts them. —Cavour.

He is not only idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed. —Socrates.

The Earth's Center.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"Of course, almost everyone, when asked: 'Where is the earth's center of gravity?' would reply: 'At or near the earth's center.' This always seemed reasonable to me, until I began to ask why. Because at the theoretical center there is nothing and "nothing" could not exert attraction. In other words, if we could make a hollow space in center of the earth, would not a feather released there be drawn to the wall of the hollow space? If so, the center of the earth's attractive force may be a theoretical periphery of a sphere some hundreds of miles from the center"—Harold W. Walker.

THE situation at the center of the earth is even more curious than you suppose. It is the point where pressure is greatest and weight is zero. Weight is a function of gravity, but there is no gravity at the center of gravity!

One of the most interesting results of Newton's mathematical study of the earth's gravity is the demonstration that, while the superincumbent pressure of the material composing the earth must reach a maximum at the center, at the same time the force of gravity disappears there, because at that point the attraction of the spherical mass around it is balanced in every direction.

So, if you were imprisoned at the earth's center you would be compressed with a force of 45,000,000 pounds per square inch of surface, but you would not weigh anything—if there was any way to weigh you! (Observe in passing the humors of the English language.)

Inside your imaginary hollow sphere at the earth's center there would be no attraction in any direction. The feather would not be drawn to the wall of the hollow, but would listlessly remain at any point where it happened to be placed. This would be the case no matter how extensive the spherical hollow. If occupied all the space included within the globe except a superficial shell, the effect would be the same.

I have sometimes thought of writing an "amazing story" of a venture inside a hollow earth. There is plenty of fuel for the imagination in it. Perhaps someone may now get ahead of me and write a better story than I could.

One of the most curious consequences of what has been said above about the balance of attraction inside a sphere is seen in the diminution of gravity with increase of depth in the globe. The principle is this: As you go down you leave above your level a shell of earth of thickness equal to your distance from the surface, and the attraction of the whole mass of this shell is subtracted from the force of gravity tending to the center. When you get to the center the entire mass of the globe is above you on all sides, so that it has no longer any effect in urging you toward the center, while on the contrary, its attraction away from the center is equal in every direction, or, in other words, effectively null.

Inasmuch, however, as the layers of the earth's shell are not uniform in density, it happens that the force of gravity actually does, at first, increase slightly in going down, so that a body taken from the surface to a moderate depth in mines would be a little heavier than on the surface. But calculation shows that this ceases at a depth probably of about 600 miles, where gravity reaches a maximum. Below that, gravity steadily decreases until it vanishes at the center. Remember that by "gravity" is meant a force tending toward the center. Einstein says gravitation should not be called a force. But no matter; let him talk. We understand what "force" means, while "space-time curvature" has no sense except perhaps in algebra, which you can get into if you are able to go through the looking glass.
